Lending institutions offer to buy half of school bonds

By BILL WINTER

Substantial savings to taxpayers are being predicted due to a decision by local banks and savings and loan associations to purchase more than half of the bond issue that is being proposed in an election Saturday, Oct. 25.

Granite City school officials are seeking voters' approval for issuance of $2,900,000 in bonds to repair present school buildings.

The bond issue involves a 24-cent change in the tax rate on each $100 assessed valuation, and a second ballot question proposes a 10-cent increase in the rate limit of the building fund.

A spokesman for area financial in-situations announced Wednesday that representatives of local banks and savings and loan associations met with Granite City Community Unit School District Nine officials at the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank to discuss the bond issue and tax referendum to be held Oct. 25.

"The financial institutions demonstrated their support for the school proposals by pledging to purchase $1,500,000 of the proposed $2,900,000 in bonds.

"We regard this as our civic duty in keeping taxpayers' money locally, at the best possible interest rate."

"This desire to reduce the funds required, and our support of the school renovation program, are the reasons for our willingness to participate in the bond purchase.

"Following a successful election, specific terms for bond purchases will be negotiated," the spokesman for the banks and savings and loan associations concluded.

School Supt. Bobby Joe Davis has indicated that the school district appreciates the financial institutions' support, and regards the expected cost reduction as a highly positive and constructive development as voters prepare to decide the two election proposals.

A "school building maintenance program" has developed in the district, requiring a 34-cent rate authorization; the superintendent has said in talks to local groups this fall.

The proposed tax ceiling change from $3.35 to $3.69 per $100 valuation is less than the 37.2-cent decrease achieved a year ago through retirement of past construction bonds and interest, Davis notes.

termed, "substantially overstated attendance figures."

Byron told the Press-Record that during Wednesday's meeting, "I accepted the letter on attendance records, but advised them that in a month or two, I will check their compliance and I also plan to meet with the state (IOE) on this matter."

He said the matter of improper bidding procedures is not yet settled and commented, "I want to talk to their lawyer (John Papa) on that."

Warning on chain letters

People throughout the country are practically giving their money away while breaking the law in illegal chain letter promotions, according to Postmaster Jack D. Wilkins.

The Postal Inspection Service, investigative branch of the U.S. Postal Service, has been warning people for years not to get involved in chain letter schemes. And while most individuals realize it's a foolish way to part with hard-earned dollars, there are some who seem to think the chance is worth it, according to Postmaster Wilkins.

"Of course the chances of getting a return on the money invested are very slight," Wilkins said, "but even knowledge of the odds doesn't seem to deter many participants."

At first glance the well-conceived chain letter promotion may look promising, but a common ingredient, probability, always works against the player. Wilkins said the Postal Inspection Service may not be able to eliminate all chain letters but they are working to inform the public these things are nothing but simple fraud.

"The operators of these schemes usually control several names on the list, Wilkins said.

"But it is a mathematical fact that only 12 out of every 100,000 purchasers (Continued on Page 10)

Delay board vote on creating bus district

Action was delayed yesterday by the Madison County Board until its November meeting, when a decision will be made on the proposed creation of a mass transit district. The district would help subsidize bus service, which otherwise is to be sharply reduced here Dec. 31.

The board deferred action on two competing proposals, one by Richard Worthen to hold an advisory election in April 1981, and a plan by William Haine to establish the district on a one-year trial basis.

Darryl Thompson, Bi-State Development Agency in-charge of governmental affairs coordinator, has said the Madison, St. Clair and Monroe county boards must act by November if the severe year-end bus service cutback is to be avoided.

Between now and its November meeting, the Madison County Board will seek out county residents' viewpoints on the issue, which involves a tax of one-fourth of one percent of retail sales. Also, Thompson will outline the various alternatives in a conference with the board's legislative committee next week.

County seeks public reaction to transit tax

The Illinois General Assembly has ruled that the present state bus subsidy of 3-32nds of sales taxes collected in the three counties will be reduced Jan. 1, either to 2-32nds in combination with a local subsidy, or to 1-32nd if there is no local action.

The three counties are empowered to set up one to three transit districts but have been hesitant to do so because taxation is involved.

Many persons, including those on limited income, say they depend heavily on bus service. But Worthen has contended that most people are tax-conscious and are willing to see bus routes virtually eliminated.

Haine asserts that a district would give the county leverage to specify the amount and quality of bus service it wishes. If Bi-State failed to perform up to expectations, the district could look elsewhere for such service, or it could disband, he adds.

Worthen summed up at Wednesday's board meeting by saying, "If there is a need, the citizens will speak out for it and there will be a transit district."

Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said he has asked Bi-State to list what cuts would be made if there is no district.

Several board members emphasized that they have not yet had sufficient response from their constituents on whether a bus district is desired.

Haine agreed to tabling of his motion to create a district, in order to allow time for the effect of the proposed service cutbacks to be evaluated.

Hagnauer said all available information on the bus system will be sent to all 29 board members for their review.

Several members asked whether their areas would have to pay taxes to such a district. Worthen said the district would consist only of those townships presently receiving service. Frank Vivod responded that half of his district, No. 29, is "out in the county" and that residents might have to walk "three miles or more" to catch a bus.

In other business at yesterday's session, the County Board voted to increase the present $24,000 annual salary of the county auditor, circuit court clerk and recorder of deeds to $25,680 in 1981, $27,480 in 1982, $29,405 in 1983 and $31,465 in 1984. The latter figure is the maximum, currently permitted by state law.

Some favored going to the maximum next year, but they were in the minority.

The pay of the coroner elected Nov. 4 will be $23,540, $25,185, $26,950 and $28,835 (the present legal maximum) during the next four years. The salary now is $22,000.

In line with state-set salary figures, it was voted to raise the yearly pay of the Madison County state's attorney from $42,500 to $50,500.

Half of the County Board switched from $40-a-meeting pay to a $5.50 annual salary two years ago, and the board decided Wednesday to have the half being elected this fall to make a similar change. Homer Bushman, who (Continued on Page 10)

Rules satisfy Byron

By MICK STRANGE

Plans to correct errors in attendance record keeping in the Madison School District 12 have been formulated and approved by the Illinois State Board of Education and Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, according to Madison School Superintendent John Palchiff.

At 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, Palchiff and Board President Sam Dymas met with Byron and presented him a letter outlining the new method of attendance keeping and reporting.

Palchiff said, "We met with the state's attorney and, after reading the plan, Mr. Byron said he thought this would handle the situation and was satisfied with the plan."

"I have informed all the principals and attendance clerks at a principals' meeting Thursday, Oct. 9, of the necessity of maintaining accurate attendance records. I will also inform all teachers of the same need."

"We feel that the implementation of the recommended state guidelines will clear up any irregularities in the system of reporting," Palchiff said.

The Madison School Board at a special meeting Tuesday reviewed the state guidelines and approved the letter drafted by Palchiff to Byron.

Palchiff and Assistant Superintendent of Schools Wade James met in Springfield, Ill., with Ron Reguly, chief auditor of the state board, and reviewed the state guidelines and recommendations.

In regard to bidding procedures, Palchiff noted that the only failure to follow the statute on advertising stemmed from a desire to equip and furnish the new middle school as quickly and conveniently as possible in order to meet a starting school deadline.

Palchiff stated in his letter to Byron, "The lowest priced bids to meet our specifications were always accepted."

The Madison school district will have to repay the state about $200,000 in excess state aid appropriations due to what the Illinois Office of Education

Survey polling places for access by the handicapped

The Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services and the Easter Seal Society have announced a campaign to make polling places in Madison County accessible for mobility-disabled people by the 1982 elections.

Headed in Madison County by Steve Dolan from the Department of Rehabilitation Services and Carol Nudo from the Easter Seal Society, the project has been officially endorsed by the Illinois Easter Seal Society, the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services and the Illinois State Board of Elections.

"It is fitting that we undertake this task now," said Nudo, "especially in light of National Handicapped Awareness week and that 1981 has been proclaimed International Year of Disabled Persons by the United Nations, the Congress and the government of Illinois, and it is no mistake that we planned the announcement of the project a mere two weeks before the general elections on November 4th," Nudo said.

"The project will consist of workers from the endorsing groups surveying polling places to determine if steps or narrow doorways prohibit people with mobility limitations from casting their ballots in their precincts," Dolan explained. "Once it is determined where polling places are not accessible, the group will work with Miss Evelyn Boyles, the county clerk, to change the polling places to accessible locations," he added.

"More and more people are becoming aware that not all Americans have the inalienable right to vote alongside their neighbors, only because they cannot get into the polling place," Dolan said. "We would like to see that changed," he concluded.

Accidents chief threat to children

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

Your child's life is in greater danger from vehicular accidents than from cancer.

Almost 10,000 American children aged one to 14, are killed in accidents each year, more than three times as many as die from cancer.

There are three chief ways children under age 14 are killed in accidents involving motor vehicles: as passengers, as pedestrians and as pedal cyclists.

Automobile accidents, over which small children have no control, are caused by a number of things: drunk driving, speeding motor vehicle and highway design.

But you can give yourself and your child some protection with seat belts.

It has been proved that the use of seat belts could eliminate more than one-fourth of the deaths and more than half of the severe injuries caused by auto crashes.

Seat belts help to keep your child inside the car; they reduce the force of impact against car interiors; and they keep you safer in case of fire or submersion.

You have a 50 percent better chance of remaining conscious and able to save yourself and your child if you wear a seat belt.

Ordinary car seat belts can be used for children who weigh more than 40 pounds (about four years of age).

Smaller children should be protected in infant restraint devices designed for children under 20 pounds, or the more familiar child restraint seats for toddlers.

A listing of approved restraints is available from the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Safety precautions for young pedestrians must be taught by the parent. Watch your children to make sure they are taking your lessons seriously and are obeying them.

Children from six to 11 are particularly vulnerable to accidents involving bicycles and motor vehicles. For those aged 12 to 17, the leading causes of accidents include bicycle riding and contact sports.

All bicycles should have reflector and other safety features required by the Consumer Product Safety Commission's Bicycle Standards.

The brakes, headlights and taillights should be checked regularly. The foot pedals should be made of sturdy rubber and should be replaced when worn.

Make sure your children study the Bicycle Rules of the Road and learn to ride defensively. Have them practice riding the bike on low-traffic streets or empty parking lots.

Once your children become skilled in handling a bicycle, then they can begin cycling in high-traffic areas. Impress on them that when they are on a bicycle, they must watch out for larger motor vehicles, just as an adult driving a truck or car watches out for semitrucks or trains.

Most accidents occur because drivers get trapped in situations from which they can't escape. The motto, "Expect the unexpected," is still the key to safe cycling.

If you have further questions about your child's biking safety, write to the Illinois Department of Public Health, Product Safety, 535 W. Jefferson, Springfield 62761.

WALKATHON TO AID AUTISTIC CHILDREN

A 25-mile walkathon will benefit the Illinois Center for Autistic Children. Planned by Belleville Area College students, the walk will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday in the southwest BAC parking lot at 2500 Carlyle Road.

All are invited to participate in part or all of the walk. Anyone who cannot participate in the walk is being urged to sponsor participants or make direct donations. Official registration and financial pledge forms for sponsors of participants are available from Vic Darnell, BAC Room 2428.

Seminar on coping with handicaps here Tuesday

The normal activities of daily life can pose serious obstacles for the disabled person. But many of those obstacles can be overcome, according to Norton S. Sanders, one of the foremost lay authorities on rehabilitation of disabled persons.

"The key to overcoming a disability is motivation," Sanders says. He will be the speaker at St. Elizabeth Medical Center's community seminar, "Rehabilitation Through Motivation," Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 7 p.m. in the medical center's Kettler Center Gymnasium.

Sanders, who was himself disabled by a stroke in 1962 at the age of 42, says he believes that, through the process of imitation, many handicapped individuals can learn new ways of coping. He has been so successful in overcoming his own disability that he has been holding workshops in which he attempts to motivate others. To many disabled people, Sanders says, it is apparent that there are so many little things presenting tremendous obstacles. But he says to the disabled person, "If you can't use your hands use your head."

Through his workshops, Sanders hopes he can help many of the millions of disabled Americans lead more productive, rewarding and above all, independent lives.

Although some people will never recover completely, Sanders says many can make improvements through motivation. Sanders will also demonstrate some of the household gadgets he has developed to make the daily life of a disabled person less of a hardship.

GC Steel Women hear ERA advocate

"ERA Now" was the topic of a program presented Tuesday night at the October dinner meeting of the Granite City Steel Women's Association.

Eighty-eight attended the 6:30 dinner, served in a candlelight setting at Alexander's Restaurant.

Sheila Ruth, associate professor of philosophy at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, was the guest speaker.

A proponent for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, Miss Ruth discussed the proposed amendment and how its passage could be of benefit to all women.

The educator was introduced by Billie Mae

Wilson, association vice president.

Pat Mih, president, was in charge of the business session.

A financial statement was read by Midge Wadlow, treasurer, and reports were heard from Debbie Lindner, secretary, and Kathleen Murphy, corresponding secretary.

Plans for a Christmas charitable project, to be sponsored by the group, were reviewed.

Gwen Taylor served as chairman of the program committee.

A clairvoyant will be featured at the association's next dinner meeting, scheduled Tuesday, Nov. 11, at Fischer's Restaurant, Belleville.

BPW club to hear GC's vice president

John G. Manda, Vice President—Environmental Control at Granite City Steel, will be the featured speaker at the annual "Legislation Night" dinner of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

The event will take place at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 22, at Charlie's Restaurant. State legislators have been invited to attend.

Reservations are required and may be made through Sunday by calling Betty Roberts, legislation chairman, at 933-8007 after 4 p.m., or Rosalie Stern, BPW president, at 452-9992, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Area political candidates and the general public may attend the dinner, but reservations must be made in advance, Mrs. Stern advised.

Candidates may make brief statements, if they wish, during one segment of the program, she added.

In his talk, Dr. Manda will discuss the role of Granite City Steel in the area of pollution control.

The guest speaker received his doctor of science degree in 1971 from Washington University, St. Louis, from where he had earlier earned his undergraduate and master's degrees.

Dr. Manda has published several articles, including "Enclosed Coke Pushing Controls," the latter in collaboration with Dr. D. F. Cairns and J. D. Burroughs.

He is the past president of the American Industrial Hygiene Association and a member of numerous committees related to waste and noise control.

A question and answer session will follow Dr. Manda's presentation.

Two school boys avoid abduction

Two 11-year-old boys are being praised by Sacred Heart School officials for refusing to enter a man's auto when he ordered them to do so at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday.

A suspect believed to have driven to the school playground area was taken into custody shortly before 1 p.m. Tuesday a block from the scene. Identified by the youngsters, he was released by authorities pending further investigation.

Elements of the description, including a shirt with blue sleeves, unshaven appearance, a moustache, mirrored sunglasses and a green station wagon with wood grain sides, were utilized by police in locating the suspect.

The man who stopped near the playground first offered the two school boys a ride. When they declined, he ordered them into the car, but they again refused. He then drove away, witnesses related.

HURT IN COLLISION

Jason B. Merchant, 40, of 218 Terry St., Eagle Park, was injured and taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 4 p.m. Tuesday. He became ill while driving east on 22nd Street at Adams Street and his auto struck the parked cars of Glenn Hornberger, 1535 Jill Ave., and John Woll, Route Six, Edwardsville, and then bent a metal cover attached to the guy wire of an Illinois Power Co. utility pole. Merchant was admitted to the hospital for treatment of head and stomach pains.

Halloween thrills in 'Haunted House'

The Word of Life Tabernacle Church is holding a "Haunted House" at 4105 Kaseberg Lane, Pontoon Beach, on Friday and Saturday from 6 to 10 p.m. The attraction will be presented again on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 24 and 25, with the final presentation on Halloween night, Friday, Oct. 31.

The times are the same for each presentation. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12. The proceeds from the haunted house will go to the church building fund.

The project is under adult supervision, a spokesman said.

Game booths will be provided, such as the balloon dart throw, hole in one, ring toss, and duck pond. Children may ride in a pony-drawn buckboard.

Clowns will provide helium-filled balloons and apply clown makeup to the children. Barbecue sandwiches and plates, with hot dogs, soda, popcorn and funnel cakes will be available.

Labor backs GC school referendum

Delegates of the Tri-Cities Area Trades and Labor Council, AFL-CIO, voted last night to endorse both proposals in the Granite City school district's special election Oct. 25.

The schools are proposing a $2,900,000 bond issue to repair school buildings, and a new building fund tax rate limit to aid in financing building maintenance. The delegates stipulated that the repair work be done with AFL-CIO labor, and that citizens oversee the repair projects to make sure that only essential work is scheduled.

Pilgrim Statue at St. Mary's Sunday

The International Pilgrim Virgin Statue of Our Lady of Fatima will visit the Quad-City area, beginning with a consecrated mass at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, 10th Street and Alton Avenue in Madison, on Sunday, Oct. 19.

The famed statue will be met at the front entrance of the church at 6 p.m. with the mass scheduled to begin at 6:30.

Three other Quad-City churches are sharing the visit in addition to the host church. They are St. Mark Church in Venice, and St. Joseph and St. Margaret Mary churches in Granite City. Parishioners from all four churches are being asked to attend the special mass and celebration in honor of Our Lady of Fatima.

The pilgrim statue is touring the Springfield Diocese during the month of October. This is the 26th annual world tour of the pilgrim statue.

This is the famed statue of Our Lady of Fatima which was hand-carved in Portugal in 1947 and has since repeatedly toured the world, spreading the message of the Virgin Mary which she told to the three children at Fatima, Portugal, in 1917. Her message was one of prayer. To pray for peace, to pray for the conversion of Russia and to pray her rosary often. She said that until her message was heeded there would be world-wide wars and destruction.

The statue will come to St. Mary's after four earlier visits on Sunday to parishes in East Alton, Bethalto, Godfrey and Livingston. The statue will remain at St. Mary's overnight where an all-night vigil will be held, beginning after the special program.

The statue also will visit two other churches in the Quad-Cities before leaving the area. The pilgrim statue will visit St. Peter and Paul Church in Alton Monday morning after leaving St. Mary's then it will visit Elizabeth Church in Granite City at 5:30 p.m. Monday. It will then be moved to Sts. Peter and Paul Church in Collinsville at 8:30 p.m.

After an overnight stay in Collinsville the pilgrim statue will return to Alton, this time to St. Patrick Church, it then will be moved to Sacred Heart Church at 11 a.m. on Tuesday for a two-hour visit.

After the mass at St. Mary's on Sunday, a Living Rosary will be presented in the church. A solemn crowning of the statue will follow the rosary. A 6:30 mass Monday morning will complete the pilgrim statue's visit. It will leave the church at 7 for its trip to Alton.

ANNOUNCING CANDIDACIES are Nick Petrillo, Robert W. Stevens, Paul Schuler, Nelson Hagnauer and Von Dee Cruse.

600 hear incumbents announce candidacies

It's official, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Granite City Township Supervisor are candidates for re-election and will head tickets including other city and township incumbents, a gathering of approximately 600 persons was told at Charlie's Restaurant Monday night.

The free "political happening," according to the invitations, was hosted by the five incumbent officials who are seeking re-election. Besides Schuler, the newly-announced candidates are City Clerk Robert W. Stevens, City Treasurer Nick Petrillo and Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse.

In his welcoming speech, Schuler told those present, "We decided to have a party for our friends. We are officially announcing our candidacies, but the campaigns probably won't begin until after the first of the year."

Stevens told the gathering, "I am pleased for your support and I welcome any support you will give me."

Petrillo said simply, "I appreciate your help for our ticket."

Hagnauer commented, "We have been fortunate to have the cooperation of the aldermen, the city council and the town board. I appreciate any support you can give all five of us."

Cruse stated, "Just give me one more time. I feel good about running with people who are experienced. Granite City is on the move and I am happy and proud to be involved in this capacity."

The speeches were short and were preceded and followed by socializing, refreshments, hors d'oeuvres and informal political conversation.

Tuesday morning, Schuler told the Press-Record he was "tickled to death, not only with the size of the crowd, but by the cross-section of occupations represented in the audience."

"We had downtown people, retailers, labor was well represented and there were just a whole bunch of people from all over the place."

"Maybe we have been doing something right the last seven or eight years," he commented.

He also said he was impressed by the number of people who made comments favorable to the five-man ticket.

Asked how the free party was financed, Schuler answered, "We (the candidates) chipped in." However, he added, "We haven't gotten the bill yet."

Workshop on stress

Stress—how to manage it and make it work for you—will be the subject of a workshop Oct. 29 at SIUE, sponsored by the Center for Management Studies in the School of Business.

The workshop—Stress Management and Human Effectiveness—is open to anyone who is experiencing either too much or too little stress in the work environment, said James F. Miller Jr., center director. Topics will include the effect of stress on human activity, its sources, symptoms and stages. The final sessions are devoted to ways to manage stress while working and achieving at optimal stress levels.

Richard N. McKinney, associate professor of organizational behavior in the management department at SIUE, who has extensive experience in transactional analysis, Gestalt therapy and other techniques, will be the seminar leader.

The session will meet from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. in Classroom Building III, Room 3335. Tax deductible fees, including luncheon and meeting materials, are $105.

Similar seminars in the continuing series for professional management development will be offered in Office Technology, Oct. 21-23; Office and Information Procedures, Nov. 12-13; and Managing Housekeeping Services, Nov. 13-14.

Additional information or registration forms are available from Barbara Woods at 692-2668. Telephone registrations will be accepted if confirmed in writing.

Endorse zoning for apartments

The Granite City Council Tuesday night will be asked to approve a request by Virgil Kirksey for R-5 multifamily residential zoning, rather than the present non-conforming use zoning, so Kirksey may construct an apartment complex at 2119 Pontoon Road.

The request received the endorsement of the city's Plan Commission Oct. 9, following a public hearing in city hall. Kirksey said at the hearing that he is planning to construct a brick two-story building with eight apartment units, facing Pontoon Road. A 50 by 80-foot parking lot would be accessible only from Pontoon Road and not from the alley, he said.

He also presented a petition of neighbors who support the project. No objections were voiced at the meeting, so the rezoning recommendation was approved unanimously by the Plan Commission.

The Commission also gave its endorsement to subdividing a lot on Harrison Avenue, outside of the city limits. Seeking city approval is a courtesy when the property is within one and one-half miles of the city limits.

Middle East film Sunday

A film, "The Coming Invasion of Israel," will be shown 6:30 p.m. Sunday at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue. The film deals with today's headlines from the Middle East.

Using the Bible as the film's authority, it reviews and deals with Israel and the crises the country faces. Russia's attempt to gain control of the Middle East and the rise of Russia from a broken nation 20 years ago to one of the three major world powers today, is discussed. The film will attempt to answer questions such as, "What does the Bible say about Russia and Israel in God's plan?" a spokesman said.

LOWER INTEREST ON FARM FACILITY LOAN

Interest rates for farm facility loans made through the U.S. Department of Agriculture are being reduced by ½ percent to 12½ percent, according to Lee Rogers, director of the Madison County Office, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services.

Rogers said the new rate of 12.5 percent per year is effective on loans disbursed on or after Sept. 29, 1980, if the application was filed after the close of business April 15, 1980. However, the interest rate on 1980 crop commodity loans will remain at the 17.5 percent rate.

Bankers opposing House cut

The Council of Administration of the Illinois Bankers Association (IBA) has voted overwhelmingly to support maintaining the present size of the Illinois state legislature.

"Recognizing the popularity of the movement to reduce the size of the House," a spokesman said, "the council stressed that its action is not coming out in favor of government 'wastefulness,' but rather attempting to air the other side of the issue."

Jack D. Lemmerman,

president of the IBA and chairman and chief executive officer of the National Bank of Missouri, said, "Opponents of this measure are often classified as those who support government wastefulness. This is not true."

"The ill effects of this blue ballot referendum far outweigh any benefits realized through approval of the amendment."

"We have three objections: the loss of general representation; the elimination of minority party representation; and the questionable savings to the state. We are concerned that this side of the story is not being adequately presented."

"In the first place, many areas of the state will lose representative representation. With one-third fewer legislators around, the people will not find them as accessible as they now are."

"Secondly, approval of this referendum would doom minority party representation. Under the existing system, three are elected from every district, two from the majority party and one from the minority. The Chicago Republican and the Downstate Democrat for the most part would disappear."

"Finally, proponents argue that millions of dollars could be saved by reducing the size of the legislature. We question this because each representative under the proposed scheme would represent a larger constituency and, consequently, would be justified in pressing for greater staff size, an increase in salary and greater expenses for the district office."

"Other states that have reduced their legislatures have experienced such increases. Moreover, $4 million is only three one-hundredths of the entire $12 billion state budget."

"If the people want to send a message to Springfield, fine. But reducing the size of the legislature is not the way to do it."

"A better way is simply to vote into office legislators they feel will more adequately represent them. We believe citizens of this state should vote 'No' on his constitutional amendment."

Knights Templar inspection

An open inspection of Emmanuel Commandery 81, Knights Templar, will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

The public is being invited to attend the brief ceremony during which an inspecting officer of the Grand Commandery of the State of Illinois is formally received.

The inspection will be under the direction of the inspecting officer for the Sixth District, the Eminent Grand Warder Sir Knight Edward F. Wilgocki Jr. of Downers Grove, Ill. He will be received by Eminent Commander Sir Knight Paul

J. Herzberg of Collinsville. The Knights Templar is an order of Christian Masons who seek to perpetuate knightly virtues of courtesy, benevolence and hospitality. Their charities include student loans and an eye foundation which pays for eye operations of qualified applicants.

The Knights Templar is the culmination of the Commandery Orders which include The Illustrious Order of the Red Cross, The Degree of Knight of St. Paul or the Mediterranean Pass, and the Order of Malta.

Jr. Miss— excitement and suspense

Only one girl could win the title of Granite City's Junior Miss for 1981, but all 21 contestants in this year's pageant will always have the memories of an exciting, once-in-a-lifetime experience.

The bright lights, cameras flashing and the scurrying in the dressing rooms changing clothes between segments.

An unforgettable evening and months of preparation prior to the selection of just one senior girl to represent her community at the Illinois state Junior Miss Pageant in December and hopefully later at the nationwide pageant in Mobile, Alabama.

This evening was particularly suspenseful as the final decision of the judges took much longer than had been anticipated. Despite the delay, the girls seemed to keep relatively calm and collected while waiting for the final curtain cue before they, and the audience, would find out who had been selected as the 1981 Junior Miss.

Contestant number 15, Lia Salem, after winning individual trophies for the youth fitness competition, scholastic achievement, the creative and performing arts segment and poise and appearance, was named Junior Miss for 1981.

Time to plant spring flowers

By RONALD CORNWELL
County Farm Adviser

Mid-October is the time to plant tulips, narcissus, grape hyacinths and other spring flowering bulbs.

A new planting will always give you the high quality so famous for these plants. But old plantings can do it, too.

Three-year-old plantings often produce even better show because the bulbs have split and produced two or three flowers.

Full sunlight and good drainage are among the keys to success in growing these flowers.

Avoid planting spring flowering bulbs in shade areas or near trees. Shade and drought will retard spring and summer growth and usually will prevent reblooming.

When economy is a factor, plan on planting small clusters of a single color. You'll be impressed with the performance of 3, 5 and 7 bulbs planted in a clump.

If you plant several colors, never mix colors. It's okay to plant clusters of each color near each other, providing you leave twelve inches of space between each color.

You'll get your best effect if these bulbs are planted where you can view them at close range and in full sun.

Century-old church event at St. John

The fourth annual chicken dinner and fall festival bazaar at St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, featuring century-old activities there, will be held Sunday. Doors will be open from 11:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., according to Ruth McDonald, chairman of the event.

Tickets for the "all you can eat" family-style dinner can be obtained at the door. Prices are $3.75 for adults and $2 for children under 10. There is no charge for children under age five.

Members of the committee are Sandy Dawson, Wilma Willardt, Jim Engelke, Steve Suess, Karen Schob, Velma Farrance, Gary Willardt, Art Ringering, Lewis Laboratory and the chairman.

The committee has been working for many months in preparation for the occasion. The fall festival is an all-church activity reminiscent of church dinners held at St. John under a century ago.

After harvest, members and friends prepared a feast, much like the pilgrims' Thanksgiving tradition, church members say. The members now bring pies and cakes for the dinner as well as home-canned goods and crafts for the bazaar.

Work on Bazaar 80 began in February and will continue until midnight Saturday, according to Sharon Engelke, Barb Suess and Linda Sturman, bazaar chairmen.

Workshops have been conducted since early summer, and organizations of the church have been preparing bazaar items at their regular meetings.

Bazaar 80 will be divided into five boutiques this year. The general store will be operated by ladies' guilds and will feature pillows, quilts, tablecloths, hot pads, casserole cozies, hearth brooms, draft stoppers, plants, afghans, jellies, jams, homemade apple butter by the New Ecclesia, pickles, pumpkins, gourds, Indian corn, breads and cakes.

The men of the church will sponsor the Brotherhood sausage shop, where pork sausage, head cheese and liver sausage will be on sale.

Attic treasures, headed by Mae Schuttkofke, will feature unusual runarags. Items of silver, china and crystal will be on sale as well as gadgets and trinkets.

Donna Petrillo is the chairman of For Kids Only, a special booth where children may shop; all their items will be priced under a dollar. Santa's Workshop, a "wonderland of Christmas gifts and crafts," is chaired by Barb Suess and Sharon Engelke.

The bazaar has been designed to interest people of all ages. "Something for everyone" has been the goal of all the planners.

Founded in 1892, St. John Church is the oldest church in Granite City located on its original site.

POINTS REVOLVER

A suspect is being sought for pointing a blue steel snub-nose revolver at Timothy Murphy of Fairmont City early this week while he was seated in a parked auto near the Taco Bell restaurant here. Murphy drove away from the area to escape the assailant, who was in another car and voiced threats.

Both 'cutback' sides say issue is effective representation

Should Illinois end cumulative voting and three-member House districts? Voters will decide Nov. 4.

The official arguments in favor of the proposed "Legislative Article" amendment relate that "nearly a half million citizens from across Illinois signed petitions to put this proposal on the ballot as a constitutional referendum."

It would reduce the size of the Illinois House of Representatives from 177 to 118 members and provide for the election of one representative from each of 118 districts.

Passage of the amendment would mark the first time in state history that Illinois voters have by-passed the legislature and enacted a constitutional change directly by citizen petition and referendum.

Backers say that by voting for the cutback amendment, citizens could save taxpayers $7 million and create a more efficient and economical legislature. The plan has the support of non-partisan citizen groups, including the Coalition for Political Honesty, the League of Women Voters and the Committee for Legislative Reform.

Proponents say the amendment would "enhance legislative accountability on issues by forcing political incumbents to run in one-on-one contests, increase electoral competition by returning Illinois to a traditional system of electing representatives, bring government closer to the people by cutting the size of House districts in half; bring Illinois in line with other major industrial states which have smaller houses of representatives; and give taxpayers a responsible way to demand better performance from state representatives who gave themselves a 40 percent pay raise after the last election and are now the highest paid in the nation."

The $7 million saving is related to salary, expenses and staff costs. Illinois legislators today have a $28,000 annual salary. Each legislator also receives more than $7,400 a year in fringe benefits such as per diem allowances, travel expenses, free health insurance and one of the most generous pension plans in the country, it is contended.

A study by the Associated Press revealed that costs of running the Illinois legislature have risen in the past decade at a rate triple that of inflation and three times the boosts in overall state operating costs.

The average annual increase in Illinois legislative costs during this period is more than the cost increases in such states as California, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

It is asserted that "the General Assembly has failed to keep its operating costs within reasonable limits. The cutback amendment gives taxpayers a way to remind state representatives that they must tighten their belts and do a better job with the public's money in Springfield."

"The Illinois House with its 177 members is the fourth largest in the country and greatly exceeds the maximum of 100 recommended by the National Municipal League for effective legislative debate and performance."

"Ohio and Wisconsin have 99 members, Iowa and Indiana have 100, and Michigan has 110."

As House Speaker William Redmond has pointed out, there are just too many bills.

"In the last Assembly, legislators introduced 3,642 bills, many of which have not been squarely addressed on their merits. Such a volume has resulted in incomplete committee hearings, limits on floor debates, and a host of hastily considered committee reports at session's end."

"The size and inefficiency make responsible debate difficult. For instance, a bill authorizing a $20 million direct state loan to the Chrysler Corp. was passed by the House on the mistaken assumption that the bill was only a loan guarantee."

"The people have a right to demand much better from their representatives when it comes to considering laws that affect the lives and pocketbooks of millions of citizens," cutback proponents say.

"Fewer legislators mean fewer politicians to introduce bills into the legislative hopper. Fewer bills translate into more time for thoughtful consideration and the beginning of a more deliberative legislative process."

"The amendment will enhance political competition in Illinois by establishing a system of 118 single-member districts. Illinois currently has 59 districts with three representatives elected from each district."

Representatives now are elected by a method called cumulative voting which is not used by any other government in the United States.

"Each political party agrees to nominate only two candidates for the three available representative seats in a district. Voters are left with a choice of only four candidates or one vote for each of three candidates."

"This confusing system protects incumbents and limits political competition and accountability. Effective representation is blurred by difficulty in holding three representatives individually accountable. Cumulative voting limits citizens' right to vote out incumbent legislators who are not doing a good job."

"Proponents of cumulative voting claim it guarantees minority party representation in every district. But it runs contrary to the fundamental principle of majority rule. In some districts today, for example, candidates have finished in third place with as little as seven percent of the total vote and still have won a full seat in the legislature."

"States such as Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota have single-member districts and consistently elect legislatures which represent all interests and regions in their states."

"With one-on-one contests in Illinois, political parties will have to compete for voters' support on the issues and with the best candidates available."

"Under the amendment, each House district will have about 95,000 residents compared to the current 190,000. These smaller districts will make it easier for citizens to communicate with their representatives and keep track of their voting records."

"Every legislative pay raise in the past 11 years has come during the lame duck legislative session when voters have no chance to protest effectively."

"Legislators continue to give themselves these pay raises because the cumulative voting system protects candidates from one-on-one competition at the next election and thus virtually assures re-election to incumbents."

"The Illinois Constitution allows voters to determine by referendum the size of the Assembly and how the members should be elected."

"The cutback amendment marks the first time the people have exercised this referendum right under the 1970 Constitution, but not without a struggle."

"First, the legislature passed a law in the middle of the cutback petition drive changing procedures for circulating petitions. Then, many incumbent legislators spent thousands of dollars in a legal effort to keep the proposed amendment off the ballot and deny six million Illinois voters an opportunity to vote on the question."

"The legislative amendment gives citizens a direct way to reform a legislature which will not reform itself. Let's remind the politicians that the people are still the boss in this democracy, and not vice versa."

Arguments against the amendment say it would deny citizens an effective voice in state government. The proposal would, opponents say:

"Deny representation to independents, to Democrats in Republican areas, and to Republicans in Democratic areas."

"Allow one political party to dominate the legislature."

"Fail to reduce costs."

"Promote regional rivalries, particularly between rural and urban areas."

"Discourage electoral competition."

"Increase the influence of special interests, power brokers, and party bosses."

"Decrease legislative accountability to the people."

"Reduce independent and issue-oriented deliberation in the legislature."

"Create dangerous legislative deadlocks."

"Cumulative voting has ensured every Illinois citizen voice in at least one house of the legislature. If abandoned, those who disagree with the political majority in their area will lose their voice in the legislature."

"For independents, for Republicans in Democratic-controlled areas, and for Democrats in Republican-controlled areas, cumulative voting makes the difference. It permits a political minority in a district to select a representative who will be responsive to its interests. Those voters are guaranteed at least one of the three representatives from their district."

"Elimination of cumulative voting could deny representation to almost half the electorate."

"Reducing the size of the House from 177 to 118 members would mean that there would be political representative for each 95,000 residents."

"This is 2 1/2 times higher than the national average of about one per 38,000."

"The current size is appropriate for our population. It would be much more difficult to respond adequately to the problems of citizens in such large districts," cutback foes assert.

"The reduction in representation would not bring a significant reduction in costs. The General Assembly budget is currently 3-10 of one percent of the total state budget. Most of the costs are for operating expenses and overhead completely dominated by one political party. It allows a voter to cast 3 ballots for a single candidate, 1 1/2 for each of 2 candidates, or 1 vote for each of 3 candidates."

"In almost every legislative district, the minority party can elect at least one representative. The system virtually guarantees that no district can be dominated by one party, and the prospect of office encourages the development of the minority party."

"Without cumulative voting, there would be no Republican voice in the City of Chicago. And it is unlikely that any Democrats could be elected to the House from suburban Chicago districts or from most of Downstate Illinois."

"If cumulative voting is abandoned, it would be far easier for the political party which controls the legislature to create 'safe' districts for members of the majority party."

"In Congress, most elected representatives are extremely difficult to challenge. Turnover rates in the House are much greater than in Congress."

"Our system of cumulative voting and multi-member districts has been in effect for 110 years. Ten years ago, the people of Illinois voted decisively in a referendum to keep the system which has served citizens well over the years."

"The Citizens Conference on State Legislatures has rated the Illinois legislature third best among the 50 states based on responsibility, accountability, functionality, independence and being informed. The diversity of the Illinois legislature works for the people," they concluded in urging "No" votes on the proposed amendment to Section 1, 2 and 3 of Article IV.

accomplishment," cutback opponents say.

"Cumulative voting has assured that the House is never completely dominated by one political party. It allows a voter to cast 3 ballots for a single candidate, 1 1/2 for each of 2 candidates, or 1 vote for each of 3 candidates."

Port leases depot tracks for railroad

The Tri-City Regional Port Authority Monday night finalized an agreement to lease 12,000 feet of railroad tracks at the Granite City Army Installation and then to sublease the tracks to the Illinois Terminal Railroad for rail car storage.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers in Kansas City, Mo., which has control of the rail tracks, could only lease the tracks to a public body, not directly to the railroad, so the port authority agreed to lease the tracks for $31,500 per year and then to sublease them to the railroad for the same amount. "We are only taking care of our tenants," Carl Hanft, port manager, commented. "In other business, the board confirmed the terminal vacation schedule used previously by port employees. After one year of service, employees qualify for one week of paid vacation a year. After three years of employment, they qualify for two weeks and after 10 years, they qualify for three weeks of paid vacation a year, the board agreed."

YMCA offers swim classes

Could your child swim to safety if he fell in a pool or pond in your neighborhood? What would happen if he or she fell in while fishing? Mom, can you join the rest of your family on and in the water without being afraid?

These are questions being asked by Augusta Birchhead, swim clinic coordinator for the Tri-City Area YMCA, as she announces the fall series of swim classes now being offered.

With the tremendous increase in home pools and other water-based activities, knowing how to swim and related water safety skills are becoming more and more important, she said. "Smaller boys have a higher drowning rate than any other group, the instructor warned. "Your children should also get into classes so that they can play near and in the water safely," she added.

The next classes will start on Saturday, Nov. 11. Saturday classes will meet once a week for eight weeks. Classes during the week meet twice a week for four weeks. Registrations for most of these classes will close Oct. 25, it was explained.

Playgrounds, roofs, windows part of school renovation plans

A wide range of work will be carried out in the Granite City school district if voters approve a $2,900,000 renovation bond issue in an election Saturday, Oct. 25.

At the lower left is a typical patched and re-patched flat roof, similar to those to be resurfaced at a number of District Nine school buildings.

inspecting old wooden windows at Nameoki Elementary School. Such windows are to be replaced with aluminum window units for improved insulation and energy conservation.

Ceilings, walls and floors also are to be repaired or replaced, outmoded science laboratories are to be modernized, dressing rooms and restrooms are to be improved, kitchen facilities are to be expanded, furnaces are to be upgraded, incandescent lighting is to be replaced with fluorescent fixtures, exterior brick surfaces are to be tuckpointed, and gutters and downspouts are to be replaced along with defective plumbing and leaking radiators.

ON STRIKE. Members of Teamsters Local 525 picket the construction site of the new ancillary building of St. Elizabeth Medical Center Tuesday morning over a contract dispute with one of the sub-contractors on the project, Jim Varner, Inc., doing drywall, plastering, tile and other work. At left is Teamster Wayne Wright of Granite City holding a picket sign in front of the new building at a construction entrance on Washington Avenue. The layoff of a Teamster driver who allegedly was replaced with a non-union driver is the main dispute between the company and the union. The picket line is no longer at the site as negotiations are scheduled.

Brief picketing at medical center construction site

For a short time Tuesday morning, members of Teamsters Local 525 were on strike and a picket line was formed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The picket line was at the Washington Avenue construction entrance to the new ancillary building now under construction, but was removed before noon when union and company officials agreed to meet and discuss a contract dispute.

The Teamsters were striking the firm of Jim Varner, Inc., a sub-contractor at the medical center expansion project. Varner is doing drywall, plastering, tile and other work at the project.

The dispute which caused the picketing was over the layoff of a Teamster driver from the firm, who was replaced with a non-union driver, a union spokesman contended. Some of those on the picket line allege that the driver was driving in place of the Teamster.

The company has refused to sign a new construction agreement with the Teamsters, but has signed with all other unions connected with the company, according to Teamster members.

A meeting was scheduled for Tuesday afternoon between Dale Stewart, business agent for construction for Local 525, and representatives of the Varner company.

It was later learned that the owner was a patient in an area hospital and was unavailable to meet. The company's attorney was contacted and another meeting will be scheduled between the two parties at a later date.

The layoff of the Teamster driver happened several weeks ago and some of the union membership said that the company has done nothing since to end the dispute. The picket line has since been reinstated at the medical center, but could be if future negotiations end in a stalemate.

The Teamsters on the picket line Tuesday stressed that there would be no reason for trouble at the building site and that the picket line is at a construction entrance. There is no dispute with the medical center's operations or staff, only with the sub-contractor.

Jeff Stewart, site supervisor for McCarthy Brothers Construction Co., general contractors of the project, said that the new wing of the medical center, which houses the X-ray, dietary, security, admitting and outpatient departments, is presently without heat and that the switch-over date for the start-up of the building's own heating system was to have been Wednesday, Oct.

He said that if the strike would continue, the staff in those areas of the center would be without heat as the weather begins to set in. The building is presently getting some heat by leaving doors open to the Doctors Wing, which is heated.

News notes

The Commerce Department on Wednesday said the "trigger price" on steel imports for the rest of 1980 will be an average of 12.1 percent above the March level.

Dr. Luis Ventura, chest clinician, is opposing a decision by the Finance Committee of the County Board to cut the Madison County Tuberculosis Clinic budget by one-third.

Ronald Reagan, Republican presidential nominee, will spend Friday night in Bloomington and campaign Saturday in East Peoria, Lincoln, Springfield, Pawnee and Butler. A parade will leave East Peoria at 8 a.m. and arrive in St. Louis at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Only about 100 attended last night's Health Systems Agency annual meeting, compared to 1,000 a year ago. The Hospital Association of Metropolitan St. Louis is challenging the validity of the HSA board election.

The Illinois State Bar Association this week recommended Circuit Judges Victor J. Moselle and John L. DeLaurenti for retention in the Third Circuit and highly recommended Justice Joseph H. Goldenhersh for retention on the Illinois Supreme Court.

Special educators will learn, observe and share innovative methods of introducing creative arts in their classrooms at the third annual Very Special Arts Festival from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow in the SIUE University Center.

Changes in Pontoon police

A manpower change in the Pontoon Beach Police Department was approved by the village board Tuesday night.

The board accepted, with regrets, the resignation of Patrolman Michael Staicoff, who is leaving to join the Madison County Sheriff's Department. The board noted that Staicoff has been a village policeman five years and thanked him for his service to Pontoon Beach.

After a brief executive session, the board voted to change the status of Patrolman Richard McIntosh from a part-time patrolman to a full-time patrolman at the regular rate of pay for patrolmen.

The village decided to purchase a prefabricated building from Morgan Building Systems. The 12 by 16-foot building will be used for storage.

Three proposals for purchasing a 1979 pickup truck formerly used by the village street department were opened and the board agreed to sell it to the highest bidder, $2,000.

The board also agreed to put the 1977 Ford police car up for public sale. Bid notices will be published next week.

Property of Orville and Opal Green, 3729 Ruth Drive, was annexed to the village at the request of the Mosesian at 1 p.m. Nov. 20. The board also concurred with the village's zoning board, allowing Mrs. Rose Tatro to place a mobile home at 4152 Division St. for her own use and for her lifetime only.

Manslaughter plea

Cordie E. Walters, 21, who resided at the KOA Campground in Mitchell, pleaded guilty yesterday to voluntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Mark W. Tatro, 29, of Ware, Mass., at the campground July 7.

He is to be sentenced by

Circuit Judge A.A. Mosesian at 1 p.m. Nov. 20. The charge carries up to seven years imprisonment. Mr. Tatro had been hit by a truck from Massachusetts seeking work when he obtained a ride from some men who camped at the campground for the night.

A short time after they arrived, a disagreement developed between Mr. Tatro and Walters and Walters allegedly got a gun, ordered everyone except Mr. Tatro to move away and then fired two shots at Mr. Tatro, killing him.

would ever win. By the time the chain reaches the 10th name on the list the entire population of the United States would be used up.

Postmaster Wilkins also reminded the public that participation by mail in a lottery is usually a violation of Federal law which could bring up to five years in prison, a $1,000 fine, or both.

At the same time, Wilkins announced the Postal Service has a new way for its customers to register complaints, compliments or suggestions.

The post office has introduced its new Consumer Service Card. The cards are available in all post office boxes and from city and rural letter carriers. Customers also have the option to call the post office by telephone or send a note to the postmaster through the mail. A postal employee will then complete a Consumer Service Card for the caller or writer. Postmaster Wilkins explained. The card asks whether the inquiry, suggestion or complaint involved a letter, package, publication, advertisement or Mailgram. Customers are also asked to specify whether the inquiry involved a delay, damage, misdelivery, service hours or postal personnel.

"It's a handy way for customers to tell us what's on their minds concerning the Postal Service," Wilkins said.

"It also gives customers a chance to let us know when a window clerk or letter carrier is rendering particularly good service," he said.

says. A 34-cent rate hike on a $30,000 home assessed at $10,000 would cost $34 a year, $2.80 a month or nine cents a day, he estimates, commenting, "For healthful, safe, pleasant and attractive conditions for the school children, a

One copy of the card is retained by the customer. The remaining copies are used by the local post office and the Postal Service Consumer Advocate in Washington, D.C. The local office uses one copy of the card as a record of action taken to help the customer and sends the other copies to Washington for computer analysis.

The Postal Service first issued its Consumer Service Card in 1975 as a means for pinpointing local service problems and determining ways to improve service. Since then, data supplied by the cards has been used by Postal Service management in Washington, D.C., to assess problem areas and national trends and to help in improving national postal policy.

"Yes" vote is needed on Oct. 25. "We are limited now to only two percent of our yearly building fund revenue for maintenance, and this is far below what is required. The other 98 percent goes for such operating costs as wages, utilities and insurance."

children are participating in three evening gymnastic classes; teen dances will begin in November, and the annual Halloween poster contest is underway.

A letter was read from Joseph Gudac, president of Croatian Fraternal Union Lodge 222, Madison, praising the work of Recreation Director Sam Dymas and the entire recreation department for their help with a recent national Croatian softball tournament.

Halloween poster contest in Madison will be limited to Friday, Oct. 31, between the hours of 6 p.m. and 9 p.m., Sasyk told the council. All "trick-or-treaters" are urged to stay within the block they live in, he added.

lost in his primary election race and will be leaving the board, unsuccessfully sought to set the pay at $6,500.

The pay of the County Board chairman, now $20,000 a year, will become $21,400 next year and $22,900 the following year.

Members of the Board of Review, which reviews property assessments, will be paid $65 a day instead of the present $45. The finance committee had suggested $55, but the $65 amount was favored by the committee chairman, William Little.

To avoid late collection of taxes next summer, the board decided to set an April 1, 1981, deadline on filing for certificates of error by those who failed to claim assessment relief under Bill 1790. The bill cuts back up to $3,000 of inflation-related valuation rises since 1977.

The salary decisions made during Wednesday's meeting apparently derailed plans by some elected county officials to have Teamsters union representatives negotiate for them with the County Board. The officials have been concerned about the pay levels and about their lack of health benefits.

Before adjourning, the board decided to delay action on a proposed election raffle ordinance, to allow time to study it. The plan calls for county regulation of raffles conducted by charitable and service organizations.

Hearing on vocational education

The Illinois Advisory Council on Adult, Vocational and Technical Education is inviting citizens to attend and participate in a public hearing on the programs, services and activities provided by vocational, technical, adult and career education.

The hearing will be held at Hadley House, Board of Education Conference Room, 708 St. Louis St., Edwardsville, on Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 9:30 a.m.

The Advisory Council is interested in the public's opinion of programs and services currently being offered, the availability of these programs to all persons who could profit from them, and how well the programs serve Illinois in preparing its citizens for employment.

Vocational, technical, adult and career education are offered at public schools, area vocational centers, community colleges and state universities. During the current school year, $64.6 million of state and federal funds will be distributed to public schools for these programs.

In addition, schools will spend an estimated $200 million of local tax funds to support such programs. These funds will provide services to 1,100,000.

Additional federal, state and local funds provide programs for adult basic and career educational programs.

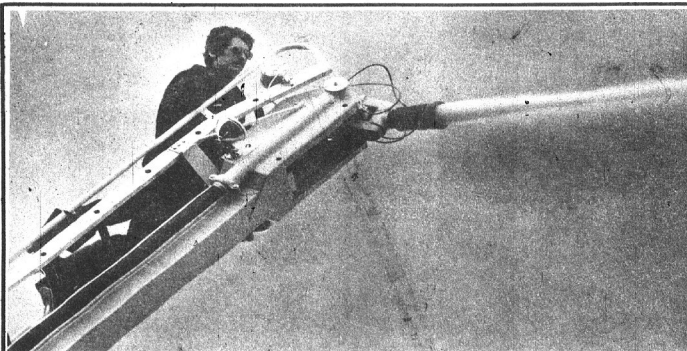

The State Advisory Council is composed of representatives from business, industry, labor, education, management, agriculture, state agencies, students and special needs populations. Members of the council from the area served by this public hearing include Glenita Penson, K. Duane Rankin and Mary Beth Stine.

The State Council may be contacted at 375 Lincoln Tower Plaza, 524 S. 2nd St., Springfield #2708 (phone: 217-782-2892).

Group backs bond issue

The Education Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce last week heard Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis explain the bond issue and tax election scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 25, in the Granite City district.

Based on the facts presented, the committee, in conjunction with the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, voted unanimously to endorse the two ballot proposals submitted to the public by the Board of Education.

The Tele-Squirt is the newest piece of equipment to be added to the department's inventory and will be kept at the main station on Madison Avenue. It

Halloween a time for trick-or-treating to aid Leukemia research

CURE (Children's United Research Effort), the Leukemia Society of America St. Louis metropolitan chapter, and former Granite City resident Mrs. Nancy Stanfill are launching a massive effort to raise funds for cancer research, patient care and education to aid St. Louis area leukemia patients.

The event, called the "Trick or Treat for Ben Stanfill Day," will be held Oct. 28 to Oct. 31, and will encourage St. Louis area youngsters to take special canisters around their neighborhoods during the four-day period, said Mrs. Stanfill, project chairman.

Mrs. Stanfill's 6-year-old son, Ben, died last Oct. 30 of leukemia, she explained, and when he died, a memorial fund was established in his name at St. Louis Children's Hospital to aid in cancer research and patient care at Children's. Mrs. Stanfill vowed when the fund was established to "do all in my power to make the fund a continuing effort to aid in the research and patient care of this disease."

Ben was born and spent several years of his life in Granite City. His paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Vaughn, reside at 2346 Cleveland Blvd. His great-grandparents, aunts and uncles also are residents of Granite City.

Ben said just before he passed away that he'd like to be "home" for Halloween. Mrs. Stanfill said. Thus, grew the concept of trick or treating to commemorate his passing while raising funds for cancer research, she said.

She also said that what began as an individual effort on her part to continue the fund has become a massive effort on the part of the Leukemia Society of America St. Louis metropolitan chapter and CURE. Mrs. Stanfill has been an active CURE member since her son's death.

CURE volunteers are parents of children being treated for cancer at Children's Hospital, or whose children have died of the disease, she said. Both CURE and the Leukemia Society are excited about the project, she said, and hope to raise $15,000, at least.

"Kids and adults alike can work together in their neighborhoods, places of employment, scouting, schools and churches to trick-or-treat for a good cause," said Dave Pierce, executive director of the Leukemia Society and co-chairman of the event.

"This project will help kids in the St. Louis area more than you'll ever know. Patient aid, research and education are the top priorities of this project; and for those of us who have lost our children to cancer it's one big way to ease the sting of our loss," Mrs. Stanfill said.

"If we can raise money to help researchers find a cure for leukemia, as well as to help kids still struggling with the disease, it means all the little Bens in this world did not die in vain," she added. She said groups may order canisters by phoning Mrs. Stanfill at 1-314-481-1111 or Pierce at 1-314-644-3833, or write to the Leukemia Society, 1612 S. Big Bend Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. Orders should arrive no later than Oct. 25.

Expand park ID program

The Granite City Park District will be offering a new procedure for securing park identification cards during the months of October and November. In addition to dates issued in the fall and winter brochure already distributed, the ID system now is a permanent installation in the Wilson Park office.

The IDs will be taken daily from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. each week day, except during the fourth week of each month which is board meeting week. At that time NO IDs will be taken.

The cost for each ID is $1 and the ID is good for a three-year period. In order to secure an ID, the applicant must live within the Granite City Park District and proof of residency, such as a current utility bill, must be presented at time IDs are taken. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the park district office at 877-3059.

Revolution 3:20... "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him..."

The Scripture is firm on this doctrine: No man comes except the Spirit of God draws him. God has sent His Spirit throughout the world to knock on the hearts door of all people. He is not willing that any man perish.

Let us understand that our hearts can only be opened from inside. We must open our hearts to let Him in. God is knocking in love, speaking in love, drawing us by His love. He truly wants to come in.

If we open the door He will come in and sup with us. He will reveal Himself to us if we open our hearts.

Do you feel the knocking on your hearts door? Can you hear the Saviour's voice? Will you let Him in? Today.

Heated race for state's attorney post in county

NICHOLAS BYRON

DON WEBER

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

Will Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron of Edwardsville prevail Nov. 4 in another potentially close contest? Only a razor-thin margin separated the three Democratic primary rivals March 18, Byron receiving 8,608 votes, 4,441 for Dick Allen of Granite City and 8,294 for William R. Haine of Alton, according to the official canvass.

Allen is campaigning on behalf of Byron. Weber's pamphlets include quotes from Haine.

Byron's backers say he will win and that he is recognized statewide for his expertise. He was elected in 1975 as one of 11 members of the "Illinois Prosecutors' Advisory Council," which provides advice, training and other assistance to prosecutors; in 1977, he became its chairman.

The two-term incumbent's fall opponent, Republican Don W. Weber of Collinsville, received 11,710 votes while unopposed for his party's nomination.

Although he garnered more votes than any of the three Democrats, Weber must overcome the 25,343 to 11,710 overall Democratic edge.

Possibly aiding his effort is the fact that Republicans always fare a bit better in the general election in Madison County than their primary turnout would indicate; many GOP partisans sit out the primary entirely, or take a Democratic ballot in order to have a voice in that party's nominating process.

Although Byron, 50, is the one who holds the office, Weber, 31, is campaigning on his own record, as a former assistant on Byron's staff—meanwhile alleging that Byron has a non-record.

The latter doesn't personally try cases, Weber says. Byron replies that the overall record and workload are what voters should consider; and it is a good record, he adds.

Byron and other Nov. 4 Democratic candidates have not made a big point of the fact that their ticket is headed by President Jimmy Carter, but Weber's campaign literature is full of photographs of Weber with Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan, and Weber with Mr. and Mrs. Reagan.

Weber justifies the link with Reagan by saying, "We share beliefs on such issues as tough crime fighting, citizens' rights to own handguns, the need to stiffen drunk driving and drug pushing penalties, and support of family values."

He won election as a delegate to the 1980 Republican national convention, where he supported the Reagan nomination.

Weber asserts that he handled over 400 felony cases from 1976 through March 1979, obtaining convictions in 92 percent of those cases.

From March 1977 to December 1978, he prosecuted 17 cases without a loss, he says.

"Of the 18 sex-related crimes I prosecuted, 17 of the defendants were convicted and sent to prison."

"Of the 14 convictions appealed to the higher court, 13 were affirmed, five of them by the Illinois Supreme Court, and the other case is pending."

"While I was in charge of the juvenile division of the state's attorney's office, I revamped the witness appearance policy, saving crime victims countless hours of waiting," Weber relates.

"I saved county taxpayers about $200,000 over four years by changing the paper work in the juvenile division."

"I did away with excessive and soft plea-bargaining and replaced it with responsible, effective plea-negotiating. In one year, I certified 10 recurring delinquents to stand trial as adults; the prior record had averaged one certification per year."

I also conducted a wide-ranging grand jury investigation of the "revolving door policy" of the Corrections Department's juvenile division.

"I prosecuted and convicted a major case despite political pressures that were brought to bear. I retried a Chester Island rape case despite the state's attorney's policy of not re-trying cases in which there was a hung jury; all the defendants were convicted on retrial."

A graduate of Collinsville High School, the University of Illinois and St. Louis University Law School, Weber contends he has handled every aspect of the state's attorney's office, including misdemeanor and civil cases.

He has lectured on trial preparation to police officers on behalf of the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, and a member of the Juvenile Justice Committee of the Illinois State's Attorneys Association. He has served as an assistant on the staff of the Illinois attorney general.

Elected as a Collinsville city commissioner in 1979, he recognized the street department and believes this has led to 50 percent greater efficiency. While administering a $901,000 budget in his first year in the city office, he held actual expenses to $801,000, and compares this volume to the $600,000 yearly budget of the prosecutor.

Weber helped organize and lead a tax cut campaign, approved by Collinsville voters in April 1979. He is a member of the Evangelical Christian faith and the Collinsville Rotary Club.

Discussing his proposals, he says he would choose "speedy rather than slow administration of justice, through an expedited trial program."

"Selected cases would be brought to trial within 30 days—chosen on the basis of the anguish to victims and their families occasioned by protracted delays, the deterrent effect on crime, whether the crime was life endangering, and the rights of witnesses, their availability and their ability to recall facts as time passes."

Summing up, Weber argues that "criminal law is a fluid and kaleidoscopic process. With each Supreme Court term, its face and substance change. It is impossible to understand criminal trial advocacy without being an advocate; there is no substitute for direct experience."

"The incumbent has not tried a criminal case or argued a criminal motion in nearly a decade. He has missed entirely the practical aspects and implications of the Burger Court 'revolution' in criminal law."

"I would personally try cases. This would add another experienced trial attorney to the staff, and insure to the people that their criminal law is being enforced by a prosecutor who has more than hearsay acquaintance with the criminal process. Anyone can be an 'administrator'."

Byron regards his administrative work as of considerable importance. He fired Weber in 1979 after the assistant was elected to the municipal office in Collinsville; Byron said the action was based on an attorney general's opinion that the two positions were incompatible.

He considers the Madison County state's attorney's office one of the best in Illinois and the nation. He says he runs a tough office and that his present staff is "intelligent, aggressive and resourceful."

A trial lawyer for 22 years, married and the father of five children, and an Army veteran, the state's attorney was elected in 1977 as president of the Illinois State's Attorneys Association.

Byron says that the third four-year term he seeks in November balloting would be his last, and that he expects the present staff to remain generally intact over the next four years, if he is re-elected next month.

While some say that police are critical when the county declines to prosecute a portion of their cases, the state's attorney emphasizes his view that "relations with law enforcement officials are the best they have ever been."

"A current program, under which the larger police departments have designated liaison officers, enables them to monitor cases in November balloting so that other officers can spend more time on the street rather than waiting to appear in court. This has been successful, and is being studied by officials from other jurisdictions."

Byron also plans to assign two assistant attorneys to handle cases dealing directly with police officers in the two largest population areas, Alton-Wood River and the Quad-Cities.

"They will be capable of evaluating felony cases, and will have the authority to issue felony information documents, so that police will not have to go to the warrant office in Edwardsville every time they apply for a felony charge."

"We have had a 100 percent conviction rate with drug abuse cases developed by the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois. I am a little disappointed with some of the sentences, but part of the problem is the law itself. He adds, "We will continue to emphasize prosecution of career criminals, focus even greater attention on rape and sex crimes, and put more emphasis on arson and white-collar crime."

Taking into account the size of the prosecution and defender staffs, the number of judges hearing felony cases, and the volume of criminal cases, Byron regards plea-bargaining as essential. "We couldn't try every case in the system even if we quadrupled our resources," he notes.

"We follow consistent guidelines on the severity of sentences which will be negotiated. Defendants who negotiate a plea usually get only a slightly less severe sentence than if they were tried and convicted."

Byron is experienced not only on the basis of his eight years in the office but also three and a half years previously as an assistant under State's Attorney R. W. Griffith Jr. of Washington University.

He practiced law in St. Louis and Belleville after receiving his juris doctor (law) degree from Washington University.

When he announced his candidacy for a third term, Byron said that after such a term "I would tell the people they should elect to succeed me someone out of this office. We have been building a good program, with outstanding people who have fantastic potential."

"Our program should be allowed to continue to grow; it should not be torn apart by bringing in entirely new people."

"Many new developments in prosecuting various types of crimes have come to light recently and we are putting them into action. We expect to make considerable progress in the next few years in curbing crime."

Discussing a frequent assertion that the criminal justice system has an overly casual response to serious violations, Byron says, "The new Class X sentencing law in Illinois inserts the presumption of probation. On a first-time arrest, probation must be given serious consideration."

"That might be all right for certain offenses, but absolutely not for others, including drug offenses. The legislature has overlooked the danger to drug agents in preparing cases. They are being shot at, and are putting their lives on the line. When we prosecute a drug case, we recommend jail time whenever it is possible within the law. We don't always get it, but we try."

"At one time, in my first term, we were getting jail time in all drug cases, even marijuana possession. With the help of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation, we never lost a case. Then the Appellate Court overturned us and deflated the whole system."

Some people say there are no drug victims, but I have seen a number of tragedies, including fatal overdoses. I doubt whether we can ever stop illegal drug sales, but we can drive it underground, rather than tolerating it."

Byron has been admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court. He is a graduate of the Washington University School of Law, Johns Hopkins University and the National College of District Attorneys.

His memberships include St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, where he has served on the church vestry. He has been a senior warden and a trustee of the Southern Illinois diocese.

A native of Lansing, Mich., Byron moved to Edwardsville in 1953 and served as an alderman on the City Council before becoming state's attorney.

In evaluating his overall performance as the county's top legal officer and adviser, he comments that "numerous grants, scholarships and subsidies have been obtained, saving county taxpayers over $200,000. Convictions have risen, and the average felony case has been disposed of in less than 65 days; we have one of the most current dockets in the U. S."

"The jails are full, and we are keeping criminals off the street. We've come a long way with police communication and cooperation. We provide legal advisory services to all segments of the county government."

"Every criminal case receives individual attention by myself and staff. We have a civil division of incredible caliber. There is no organized gambling or vice."

"In summary, we have done a lot to make this a good county in which to live."

Governor endorses reducing time for building tax sales

The proposed Constitutional Amendment to reduce the redemption period for "scavenger" tax sales has been endorsed by Governor James R. Thompson.

In a letter to Michael J. Howlett, chairman of the Committee to End Illinois Tax Abuse, the governor said the amendment would be "a very useful tool for our local governments, in attempting to return delinquent property to the tax rolls."

The amendment will be submitted to the voters at the Nov. 4 election. It would let the legislature reduce the redemption period from two years to not less than 90 days for property delinquent five years in taxes.

It does not apply to single-family dwellings or small apartment buildings; only to commercial, industrial and vacant non-farm properties and to residential buildings of seven or more units.

"Lengthy redemption periods are often significant hindrances to effective neighborhood revitalization," on," said Governor Thompson.

"Because property cannot be sold at a scavenger sale until taxes are delinquent for five years, sufficient public protection of owner's equity would still be offered within 90-day redemption period. It is my hope that the people will overwhelmingly endorse this amendment in the November election," he said.

Grant for cycle safety instruction

A $149,172 highway safety grant to continue funding motorcycle safety instruction has been awarded Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

The motorcycle safety course is offered free to any Illinois resident aged 15 or older, with or without a driver license. It consists of eight hours of classroom and 12 hours of on-the-bike instruction in basic riding techniques. About 1,380 persons will receive training under this grant, 40 percent on the SIUC campus and 60 percent at 18 off-campus locations in the 40-county training region. Over 4,400 persons have taken the course since the program's inception in August 1976.

16th Shrine series to open next month

The 16th Annual Dinner Speakers Series, sponsored by the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows' Oblates and Layman's Association, will be held on Tuesday evenings, Nov. 18; Jan. 20; Feb. 17 and March 17. The evenings, held at St. Joseph's Visitors Center at the Shrine, begins with a 6:30 p.m. hospitality time and a 7 p.m. buffet, concluding with that evening's speaker.

The Speakers Series is offered as a constant effort to inform, to inspire, and to educate the public. This year, there will be four speakers of various backgrounds who will present their views on their particular areas of interest.

The first speaker of the series will be retired Lt. Gen. Joseph F. Carroll, U.S. Air Force, on Tuesday, Nov. 18.

Lt. Gen. Carroll is a management consultant and former inspector-chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, deputy commander and chief of staff of U.S. Air Forces in Europe. He gives a realistic and hopeful look at trends, "America and its Future."

On Tuesday, Jan. 20, Mr. Michael Braude, executive vice-president of American Bank and Trust Company in Kansas City, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Braude is known for a liberal amount of warmth and humor to his sensible, forceful lectures, a spokesman said. His topic for the evening will be "Money Management for the Eighties."

The third dinner will feature Father J. Thomas Finucan on Tuesday, Feb. 17. Father Finucan, former president of Viterbo College, LaCrosse, Wis., for 10 years, presents an entertainingly humorous, practical and insightful approach to life. He will share a number of "Reasons for Hope."

Last will be Bob Murphy on Tuesday, March 17. Mr. Murphy is an attorney and counselor for Nacogdoches, Tex., and is known throughout the United States for his down-to-earth philosophy, clean humor, and witty observations, according to the spokesman. His presentation is entitled "Don't Forget to Pull the Trigger."

More information and reservations for the 16th Annual Dinner Speakers Series are available by contacting the Shrine, at 1-253-2238.

Alternative education expertise here to be 'exported'

Formalized schooling through the twelfth grade simply does not work out for some teenagers, and the Alternative Education Program here is one of the "pioneering attempts to provide a 'middle ground' between attending regular classes or dropping out of high school entirely. Now, the local approach is to be tried on a regional basis.

Alternative education is provided for between 100 and 200 Quad-City area young people under the sponsorship of Coordinated Youth Services, Niedringhaus and Delmar avenues. A $25,000 grant has just been received through the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission to establish the Southwestern Illinois Alternative Education Center here.

A pilot study will analyze and draw together different aspects of alternative schooling at various Illinois sites, enabling a representative curriculum and effective strategies to be developed; teachers and student teachers then will be trained here to operate alternative classes in their districts.

In-service training will help Granite City, Madison, Venice and other Madison County teachers recognize and identify students who could benefit from alternative education.

Assisting in the overall effort to enhance the quality and success of alternative schooling will be the Education Department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The concept followed by CYS is based on the belief that non-traditional instruction—tailored to the needs of those who have experienced academic failure or have been responsible for disruptive conduct—can lead to educational success and thus forestall potentially delinquent behavior.

As such programs are updated and improved, they will be of increasing value from the standpoints of young people, their families and their communities.

Edward J. Schnuck, president of Schnuck Markets, Inc., will be the main speaker at the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce annual meeting to be held Thursday, Oct. 23, at the Sunset Hill Country Club.

During the meeting, E. A. "Duke" Karandziej will be installed as new president of the Chamber and Bonnie Goldenberg will be installed as president of the Women's Division of the Chamber. Reservations for the $16.50 per person event may be made through Monday at the Chamber office, 876-6400.

Schnuck, a St. Louis native, has been associated with the food industry throughout most of his adult life. Named vice-president of the company where it was formed in 1952, Schnuck served in that position until 1961 when he was elected president. He served as president until 1970, when he became chairman of the board.

The largest retail food chain in the metropolitan St. Louis area, Schnuck Markets operates 52 supermarkets and four show stores, catalogue discount centers.

Schnuck was elected a director (1969) and chair-

Tobin obviously unfamiliar with GC school proposals

Is tax cutting an issue whose time is at hand in Illinois? Perhaps so, but one wonders whether James Tobin's Illinois efforts will be as effective as those of Howard Jarvis of California's Proposition 13 fame.

The anti-tax rally held Oct. 12 regarding the current Granite City school district referendum was depressingly similar to past rallies led by Tobin where he encouraged Madison County governmental tax rate cuts. The words "thieves" and "robbers" were utilized frequently in the speaker's remarks.

Inflation-beset taxpayers, especially those on fixed incomes, find much validity in the idea of belt-tightening to keep taxation as low as is reasonably possible.

But Tobin takes such an extreme position on officials' alleged evil motives that many of his other points become suspect, and he loses considerable credibility.

Tobin urges not only negative voting on virtually any governmental proposal but also strikes, tax revolts, tax rebellions.

When trying to review the Granite City school remodeling bond issue plan, he repeatedly referred to "building more facilities" and asked, "Why do the schools need more buildings?" No such expansion is being suggested.

Whether or not voters decide to support or oppose the bond issue, they may wish to disregard Tobin's comments. If the "more facilities" references are any indication, he has a total lack of understanding of what is under consideration by local citizens and school officials.

Offer marriage enrichment weekends

The Living Resource Center of the National Shrine will sponsor a marriage enrichment weekend, Nov. 7 to 9. The weekend, held at the Shrine, will be conducted by Father Roger Karban, scripture instructor for the Belleville Diocese.

Marriage enrichment weekends provide couples with time together to reaffirm and examine the values of Christian marriage and especially the values of their own relationship. These days offer support for and encouragement to couples as they strive to build an ongoing relationship of love and trust.

Away from pressures of everyday living, couples can share understanding, insights, pains and delights of married life. Sharing sessions are structured and involve input from a team, with opportunity for group discussion. However, the degree of participation is left to each person's judgment. Future marriage enrichment weekends sponsored by the Living Resource Center are Nov. 21 to 23 and Jan. 30 to Feb. 1. For more information or reservations, interested persons may contact the Shrine at 1-397-6700.

Nameok Township will again be well represented at the annual Illinois Township Officials' Convention in Springfield Nov. 9 to 12 as the township's board of trustees voted Tuesday night to send 11 officials and incur expenses of up to $300 each.

The board agreed to pay the expenses for all board members, the supervisor, the clerk, the tax collector, the tax assessor, the township attorney and the general assistance administrator.

In the past, opponents of the administrators in power have contended that the township spends too much annually on the convention, since the money could be spent alleviating problems in the township.

Supervisor Harold Davis defends the expenditures, saying that different officials attend different seminars during the convention and it would be impossible for a township to open a bank account to accumulate the amount of knowledge in the various areas which is accumulated by having all of the township's officials involved in the convention.

In other business, the board called a special meeting for 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 25, to open bids for a van to transport the township's officials to the convention.

A letter was read from the Township Officials of Illinois concerning the township's previous van donated by Buickman Ford of Collinsville, was withdrawn when it was found that the automobile sales industry

The Southwestern Illinois Agency on Aging has approved a grant of about $16,500 for the township to purchase a van equipped with a wheelchair lift, but has notified the township that the complete package, including bids and contracts for the van, be submitted no later than 5 p.m. Monday, Oct. 27.

The town board immediately advertised for bids and will open them at the special Saturday meeting, so the deadline can be met.

At other business Tuesday night, the board opened bids for sidewalks in State Park Place. A contract was awarded to the lowest bidder, L&B Construction of East St. Louis, providing he posts his performance bond within the required 10 days.

The sole bid for construction of the new sewer line for that area, Davis said.

Differing stands on minimum pay

To the Editor:

The records and program of the Carter administration—in stark contrast to the platform of the Democratic party and the Congressional history of John Anderson—build upon a firm foundation of democratic liberalism.

Few issues demonstrate the differences between the candidates more clearly than their positions on the minimum wage. Nothing highlights more clearly the future consequences of this election.

One of the crucial tasks before us, during the next four years, will be the effort to restore and maintain the real value of the minimum wage. Only one candidate offers the prospect that the task can be accomplished.

We know where President Carter stands. He signed into law the largest percentage wage increase in history.

He understands that the minimum wage is a hard-earned right of every person's labor should yield at least a basic standard of living, without regard to age, sex, race or other extraneous factors.

Pres. Carter recognizes that economic competition, based on cheap labor brings human exploitation, promotes discrimination, creates a large permanent underclass, breeds mass unemployment by shrinking markets and demoralizes human society.

Neither Ronald Reagan nor John Anderson understands or accepts those very basic positions.

Pres. Carter also recognizes the threat posed by the youth subminimum wage proposal.

Touted by both Reagan and Anderson as a cheap magic cure-all for teenage unemployment, this scheme is simply a swap of the unemployment of adults for the unemployment of teenagers.

It is a gimmick designed to evade the basic issues raised by inadequate training and education, the flight of industry and unemployment, and to run away from the pressing need for real programs addressed to those problems.

John Anderson has repeatedly voted against minimum wage increases and for youth subminimum wages.

His record shows no concern for the jobs and welfare of the lowest-paid workers in our society.

Ronald Reagan carries that posture to a further extreme of hostility to the minimum wage.

Twice in this campaign, his fangs have shown through the efforts of his diversions to wings-over and to, once more, "clarity" into vapor what Reagan really has on his mind.

When Ronald Reagan stated that reductions in the minimum wage are the route to prosperity and employment gains, his feelings plainly showed.

When he said that the minimum wage was the greatest cause of misery and unemployment, he revealed the primitive nature of his perceptions.

And when he chose to make those statements in front of business fat cats the wage that controls him could not be hidden. Those wages extend as well to the hands of the giants of the oil industry.

John Anderson has been able to look at the issues in the campaign and

Campaign tactics called insulting

To the Editor:

President Jimmy Carter has insulted and demeaned the residents of Illinois by his unbelievable and incredible statements about Ronald Reagan.

The Carter remarks in Chicago are going to backfire.

The people of Illinois—Republican, Democratic and independent—will not stand for the kind of character assassination Carter has been practicing. We are a people concerned electorate in Illinois.

We have voted with the winner in almost every presidential election since the turn of the century because Illinois residents have been able to look at the issues in the campaign and decide which candidate is best suited for them, based on the merits of the candidate.

We have not been swayed by cheap and demeaning rhetoric and that is all Carter has been able to offer Illinois residents.

His record is so poor he is afraid to discuss it in public and must resort to character assassinations that will not be swallowed by Illinois voters. I think most Illinoisans find these campaign tactics repugnant and insulting to their intelligence.

Carter's groundless attacks on Reagan contrast with Reagan's own Illinois campaign speeches during the past two months.

Governor Reagan discussed

national defense before the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chicago.

He discussed the economy before the International Business Council in Chicago. He discussed Social Security and the needs of the elderly before senior citizens in Northlake.

In each visit to Illinois, he has discussed issues and what he would do as president. He has not engaged in the kind of gutter politics that Reagan has been practicing and he will not do so.

I am convinced Illinois residents will tell Jimmy Carter what they think of his record and his campaign tactics on Nov. 4.

Devote campaign to the issues

To the Editor:

The Carter and Reagan campaigns are substituting a rhetoric for the discussion of substantive issues in an attempt to camouflage their short-comings. I call for the resumption of debate on the issues.

Carter's accusations that Reagan is a racist and that his election would divide this country—blacks from whites, Jews from Christians—has reduced campaigning to a low not seen since the Joe McCarthy days.

While not based on hate, the rhetoric for the responses play on peoples' emotions and he manages to dodge all intelligent discussion of the issues.

The Anderson difference is based upon the fact that John B. Anderson seeks to be elected by having people review the issues, and vote according to reason and conscience.

We challenge Reagan and

Carter to stop this rhetoric and return to a debate, so the American people can make an intelligent choice based neither on vilification nor emotion, but rather on what's best for them and the country.

We believe we will win on the issues. We challenge our opponents to try the high road.

Difficult choice for many women

To the Editor:

The Supreme Court in 1973 gave our citizens the right to choose if a pregnancy should continue to full term.

Thank goodness that these judges are looking out for the majority of the people.

If we were the only to get pregnant, this ruling would have come about on July 5, 1976.

This is a very private and personal choice a woman has to make—and very often without the support of people close to her.

No one can imagine the guilt that society places on a woman because of her choice.

How many people know that a woman—and many times, the man involved—goes through a counseling session prior to an abortion?

How many people know that those who oppose abortion are pressuring legislators to ban any kind of birth control, including the pill and the IUD? Think about that and what it could lead to.

I shudder to think that there is a doctor in our town who does not know that a pathologist report is required on every aborted fetus, and that disposal of the fetus is authorized by state law.

GRANITE CITY MAN

John Anderson offers leadership

To the Editor:

What has happened to the fiercely independent character of the American people?

This is the character that gave our country the strength and compassion necessary to provide leadership in the world.

Here we are in an election year, watching people blindly following a party and/or a candidate whom they really don't favor because they can't accept the prospect of the other one being elected.

What a negative attitude toward the office of president—the person the country looks to for leadership, vision, hope and direction.

But perhaps the public isn't entirely to blame for its apathy.

The standard bearers of the two parties are not behaving as leaders but as followers, twining from position to position in a desperate quest for more votes.

Is that really what we want our president to do?

Do we really want him to promise panceas for all our problems? Do we really want concrete plans to achieve anything; to feed us exaggerations and outright lies about his record; to try to buy us off with tax cuts, federal money, projects and patronage; to flatter our ego by always appearing to agree with every interest group; and to play upon our differences with emotional appeals to morality and religious fervor?

I don't think so. I believe we really want to see responsible, strong leadership in the fullest meaning of the word.

John Anderson is offering that quality of leadership—an innovative, outspoken and inquiring approach to solving the problems of this country and of the world.

He is telling us what we need to know in order to cope with the problems of the future.

Think of it—an independent president who is not bound to party bias and prejudice; who can attract integrity, intelligence and expertise to government that is beyond party control.

A president and administration which can lead and make decisions on the basis of what is truly best for the country as a whole—a president who isn't beholden to special interests and pressure groups.

John Anderson is offering us a unique opportunity to break with the hide-bound limitations of "politics as usual."

We can reassess our trust in freedom and independence. We can elect John Anderson on Nov. 4.

Steelers, without Buchanan, tackle Althoff

By TOM SCHOCKER

GRANITE CITY — The stage is set. They're shooting for all the marbles. Granite City North takes on Belleville Althoff in Granite City Friday.

The Gateway East Conference football clash might very well decide the conference champion for 1980. The Steelers power their way into the contest with a perfect 5-0 season mark and 2-0 in the Gateway East. On the other hand, the Crusaders record is equally impressive at 5-1 and 3-0 in conference. To add a few more facts to the meeting, Belleville is the defending conference champion and made it to the semi-finals of the 4A State playoffs last year. In the North-Althoff game last year, the Crusaders won quite handsly. To top everything off, the Steelers may have to play the game without the services of their ace running back Kevin Buchanan.

"You always have to take a look back to last year," said Steeler head coach Tom Wyrostek, "but you can't worry how you played then. This is now." Right about now North seems to have everything going its way. Leading the area in total defense, the Steelers are on their way to maybe one of their best seasons. "We are definitely a lot better now than last year," said Wyrostek. "We're 5-0. Last year at this time we were 3-2." In addition, North is ranked fourth in the 4A state polls.

Belleville head coach Glen Schott also feels that last year's contest shouldn't have a bearing on Friday's game. It was one of those things," said Schott. "Everything went right for us and everything went wrong for them. When those things happen, there's not too much that can be done about it."

However, both coaches know the importance of the game. "We have to do a lot of things well in order to win," said Wyrostek. "We have to stop them from scoring, yet score ourselves. They have a awful good running attack and they will try and hit you big with the bomb from the air."

Although the cards seem to be stacked in favor of Belleville Althoff with past history, Schott still has a tremendous amount of respect for the Steeler squad. "I have a great deal of respect of Granite North," said Schott. "I thought at the beginning of the year they would be the sleeper. I think people are overlooking a good team. I am very impressed."

Without Kevin Buchanan in the backfield, the Steelers will have to rely on sophomore Darren Depew and senior Rich Buer to strengthen their running attack. "He (Buchanan) didn't play against Cahokia and we still scored and won," said Wyrostek. "We've been ready for every game so far, there is no reason way we

North kickers crush Maroons

By PETE HAYES

of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Granite City North soccer coach Bob Kehoe watched here Tuesday as his Steelers torq apart Belleville West 4-1. What? A score of 4-1 not being a romp, you say?

Well, it was. Especially when looking at the statistics. North's official statistics, which are usually very miserly when it comes to giving the Steelers credit for shots on goal, had the North-sideers outshooting West 25-4.

North also had an edge in corner kicks 6-0. The Steelers' goalie, Rob Chapman, was forced into making only two saves while Maroon goalies made 13. West was whistled for 20 fouls, North for 15.

"We're about where I thought we'd be at this time of the season," said Kehoe. "But I'm still not satisfied completely with our play. There's something about our passing that I still don't like."

"It seemed like we'd do alright for two or three passes and then either lose control or they'd intercept the ball."

Passing control was just about all that was wrong with the Steelers' effort Tuesday. They dominated the entire game, save a momentary lag when Belleville scored its only goal.

"We had things pretty much our own way, I guess," said Kehoe. "We got to substitute a lot."

North's goals weren't your garden variety, either. They were something to behold.

Business as usual for South

GRANITE CITY — It was business as usual for the Granite City South soccer team here Monday night. The Warriors dominated Hazelwood Central 4-1, taking a 37-4 edge in the shot count.

The victory raised South's overall record to 17-1-1 and came on the heels of an impressive 2-0 victory over St. Mary's in the championship of the C.Y.C. Tournament Saturday night. But South coach Gene Baker was a little apprehensive going into Monday's game with Hazelwood Central.

"It could have been a dangerous situation," he said. "Only a day's rest and all the activity with the tournament and everything could have made us either flat or beat Central too lightly. They're not a bad team. We couldn't afford to do that."

From the results, it was obvious that the Warriors took no one lightly. South took a 2-0 lead at halftime and coasted in from there. Most everybody on the South bench got a chance to play. "I was glad to be able to play just about everybody," said Baker.

"Especially this time of the season, when it's getting down to state tournament time." Sophomore Tony Segobiano got South on the scoreboard first with an unassisted goal at the 21:22 mark. Segobiano has surfaced lately as a key ingredient in the South's scoring attack. Moreso as an assist-dealer than an actual scorer. His corner kicks have led to goals in several recent Warrior games, including his team's upset victory last week over top-seeded Vianney in the C.Y.C. Tournament.

The Warriors' second goal of the game was scored by old reliable — David Fernandez. The diminutive All-American, scored South's second unassisted goal of the game at the 31:13 mark.

Fernandez took a pass from teammate Phil Dudak at the 55:02 mark and boomed it into the net to make the score 3-0. But by then, the outcome was no longer in question, only the final score.

Hazelwood Central came back with an unassisted goal of its own at the 58:06 mark. It was scored by Russ Loring.

A HEADY MATTER. Granite City North's Steve Tritschsch (8) and teammate John Sikora (13) both go airborne for a head ball Tuesday at home against Belleville West. The

Gridders move up in poll

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City North football Steelers have moved up to fourth in this week's Associated Press Illinois high school football Class 5A poll. The Steelers, coming off an idle week the previous weekend, demolished Cahokia 31-8 last Friday and advanced from seventh in the poll. North has a 5-0 record.

Springfield Griffin (6-0) is ranked first in the state 5A poll. Rockford Boylan (6-0) is second followed in third by Mount Carmel (6-1). Behind North rounding out the top ten are Glenbard West (5-1), Hinsdale South (5-1), Oak Lawn Richards (5-1), Mundelein (5-1), Ottawa (5-1) and Decatur MacArthur (5-1).

Other schools ranked in various polls include East St. Louis Senior (5-1) fourth in Class 6A, Mascoutah (6-0) eighth and North's next Gateway East opponent Belleville Althoff (5-1) tenth in Class 4A.

Other area teams are Bruce Mater Dei (6-0) second, Harrisburg (6-0) sixth and Anna-Jonesboro (6-0) tenth in Class 2A. There are no area teams ranked in Class 1A, the smallest class.

Buchanan thinks his teammates can win it

GRANITE CITY — With Friday comes the prep football showdown between Granite City North and Belleville Althoff. The victor could go on and claim the Gateway East Conference crown and a berth in the State Playoffs. As important as the game is, the Steelers will have to play without their top running back, Kevin Buchanan.

Buchanan was injured last week against Cahokia doctors have diagnosed his injury as a severe ankle sprain. How big the sprain remains a mystery. "To tell you the truth, I don't know what happened," said Buchanan. "I was going through the line and I got tackled. I guess I came down on my ankle funny. I tried to walk it off, but when I got to the sidelines it was worse. I really didn't think it was all that bad." According to Steeler head coach Tom Wyrostek, even the game films didn't show any sign of Buchanan getting hurt.

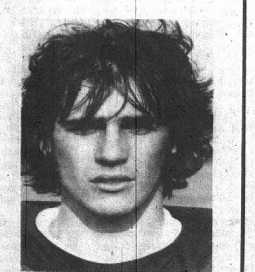

However, the sprain was bad enough that Buchanan was forced to miss the remainder of the contest. His teammates made up for it though, trouncing Cahokia 31-8. "Having Kevin out didn't seem to bother the other players," said Wyrostek.

Whether it bothered the Steelers then is not the question, how will it affect them Friday is. "We'll show up with or without him," said Wyrostek. "I just hope the young man that takes his place can do the job. We'll just have to wait and see."

Buchanan is confident in his fellow teammates. "Our backs are capable of doing the job," said Buchanan.

"Because I run the ball so much, Rich Buer doesn't see a lot of playing time. But he's a good back. I don't like the part about not playing. I want to do my part, but everyone is up for this game. I really think we're strong enough without me in there."

Buchanan's absence from the lineup might be a big factor as to whether

KEVIN BUCHANAN

North will have a good season or a fair one. "I don't know when he'll be back," said Wyrostek. "It all depends on how his rehabilitation goes."

According to Buchanan, he has been getting whirlpool treatment and walking in water up the his neck to strengthen the ankle.

"I'll be back and I'll play," said Buchanan, "but my ankle will be weak. I'll be back for the South game (next week)."

With the year Buchanan has been having, the injury comes at a bad time. A time when college scouts look for hopeful prospects. "I haven't been contacted yet," said Buchanan. "I think I may have had a chance for some kind of offer. I don't think the injury will help either, but then again I don't think I'm big enough to play college ball."

Maybe not big enough for the college gridiron, but big enough for the high school field. But Belleville Althoff might not find out.

Sub-sectional pairings out

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — Welcome to the real world, Madison.

Madison head soccer coach Gene Briggs probably would just as soon not think about his team's first game in the upcoming IHSA Sub-Sectional Soccer Tournament. The Trojans, in their third season of varsity competition, must travel to Granite City North to take on the Steelers in the first round of the tournament Oct. 28.

North, annually one of the most powerful teams in the state, was seeded second by coaches in the Sub-Sectional and the pairings were released here yesterday. As expected, four-time defending state champion Granite City South was the top seed in the tournament and will receive a first round bye.

South will be seeking to win its fifth consecutive state title. The Warriors, the number one team all season in the Press-Record Prep Poll, will face the winner of the Alton Marquette-Wood River game, which will be played Oct. 28 in Alton. In the other first round game that day, Alton Senior vs. Civic Memorial of Bethalto game, also in Alton. Alton Senior was seeded third and Marquette was seeded fourth.

The winner of the North-Madison game will face the Alton-Bethalto game in the other semifinal game. Those semifinals will be held Thursday, Oct. 30. South will play at home, being the top seed. If North beats Madison, it will play at home. In the semifinals, no matter which team wins the other first round matchup, should Alton win and North be upset, Alton will be the team in the other semifinal.

The winners of the two semifinals will play each other at the home field of the highest-seeded team Saturday, Nov. 1 at a time to be determined. Alton Marquette, in its first year of varsity competition, is one of the surprise teams of the area. The Explorers, as of Wednesday, have a record of 15-0 with two regular season games left to play. One of their victories was of Edwardsville, which they fought Granite North and South to ties early in the season and was beaten by each by one goal late in the campaign.

The winner of the Sub-Sectional will advance, along with winners from three other Sub-Sectionals, to the Sectional Tournament Nov. 4 and 7 at Granite City South. The winner of the Sectional Tournament will advance to the State Finals Nov. 14 and 15 in Palatine.

Pairings for the South Sectional will be determined on an alphabetical basis. That is, the team highest alphabetically will play the fourth and the second the third-highest. The semifinals will be held at 5 and 7 p.m. Nov. 4 at South. The championship game between the

Spikers start fast, but fail to Kahoks

SUPER SPIKERS. Granite City South two top spikers were in action here Tuesday. And it was all Collinsville could do to contain them. Warriors Susan Jeffries (number 11 at left) and Chris Boyd

By RICK WELLE
for the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY—Tuesday night the Granite City South gym saw a classic volleyball matchup — the Warriors' raw power against Collinsville's finesse.
Finesse won, 7-15, 15-11, 15-10.

Despite South's ability to make a slam-dunk jump two or three points on the Richter scale, with every spike, the Kahoks managed to keep their poise and come back from a poor first game. So Warriors didn't let Collinsville coach Jean Willmore say, "I was really impressed with what I saw tonight. I like coming back from that kind of a deficit — and with one starter gone."

Shelly Ertuli, the main setter in Collinsville's offense, was on sick leave. So Willmore dug into her bag of tricks and pulled out another player or two. Freshman Susan Pitol and juniors Mary Fran Fronchek and Monica Elliott all saw a lot of court time.

But then, they had to South has a couple of spikers that put the word "boom" into volleyball.
Spiker number one for South is Susan Jeffries. She did her best not to be outdone by Boyd, hitting a couple of smashes that sent Collinsville defenders into a frenzy.

In the first game, Boyd and Jeffries dominated. Collinsville broke character and missed serves on its few opportunities. Between South spikes, and the result was a fairly easy game for the Warriors.

But in the second two games, Julie Canull took charge for the Kahoks. The powerful junior nailed key spikes, set for her teammates well and played a strong game defensively. Canull had the best idea for handling the devastating spikes coming from across the net. "I prayed," she said. "They're two tough hitters. Boyd is really tough."

Willmore also recognized her senior franchise, Ann Price. "When it all comes down to it I think Ann takes charge," she said. At the end of the second game, Price served eight straight points. She was used as both a spiker and a setter for the first time, and after ironing out a few problems in the first game, came on strong.

(number 10 in picture at right) led South to a first game win over the powerful Kahoks. But Collinsville came back to win the last two games to win the match.

Scout thinks Boyd is college prospect

volleyball

GRANITE CITY—Two men stood out like sore thumbs in the stands at Granite City South Tuesday night. They conferred with one another while watching the Warrior spikers lose to Collinsville 15-7, 11-15, 10-15.

They didn't seem to care much about the final outcome, but rather were looking at individual talents. One of the men was undoubtedly a scout, donning a bright yellow knit shirt with "Missouri Coaching Staff" printed on the front. The other was just helping out.

The scout turned out to be Mike English, head volleyball coach at the University of Missouri.

His presence at a South-Collinsville match was in no way accidental.

Basically, we're looking at great players," he said. "Namely Granite's Chris Boyd and Collinsville's Ann Price."

If there was any question about English being a scout, after talking with him all doubt was removed. "We were very impressed with her skills," English said of Boyd. "She's a good spiker, has good all-around skills, is a floor-leader, has a great attitude."

English couldn't help but smile knowing how cliché he sounded. "Something we look for is that she's a very good student," he said of Boyd. The spiking senior currently holds a perfect 5.0 average in her studies at South.

Price was also under his watchful eye. "It's no surprise, I'm sure," he said. "She's also a very good student. She's almost a ditty of the other girl — seems to hustle on the court, fully devoted, has good skills."

The two stars aside, English did pick a good volleyball match to drive from Columbia to see. "I thought they were pretty good teams," he said, still unable to get away from clichés. "I think they're above average in the Midwest, at least in my opinion. Both will be competitive in the district tournaments, and I wouldn't be surprised if one of them made it out of the sectionals."

Trojan kickers set team mark for wins

MADISON — You can say there's always tomorrow for the Madison soccer program. It seems that they have been saying that a lot lately. But the day of reckoning came Monday and the Trojans were ready for it.

"The Trojans put together two well-executed goals to break a four year long dry spell of only three wins in a season. Madison downed Lutheran South 2-1, increasing its season mark to 4-4. Doesn't sound very impressive, but it was an accomplishment nonetheless."

"This is the best record Madison has ever had," said Trojan head coach Gene Briggs. "The way we won this game was a big step forward for us. In the first eight games we were 3-2 and had scored nine goals to 10 for the opponents. Our attitude was fantastic. The next eight games we were 0-6 and had scored only 3 goals compared to 14. Our defense was tough in six of those eight games. However tough doesn't mean victory. But against Lutheran, it was the first time in a while that the team really wanted to score."

"The scores came in fine fashion, although it looked at first as the results were to be the same. 'You see, we didn't have school Monday,'" said Briggs, "and I don't really think the guys were awake yet. It certainly seemed that way, as the Lancers jumped out with an early score."

"Actually, they got the one goal by a mistake," said Briggs. "Our player misjudged two head balls and the second one he failed to hit went over his head. They had a clean breakaway and there was no way for our goalie to stop the shot. It was excellent. The ball hit the goal post and went in. I yelled and maybe embarrassed the kid who let the ball go over his head. I just had to wake him up and he played good for the rest of the game. Waking the player up, in return woke up the Madison defense, who shut Lutheran down cold. Never really got a good shot on goal after the first period as they

No changes in poll

GRANITE CITY — There were no changes in this week's Press-Record high school soccer poll. The coaches voting in this week's poll still think Granite City South is the team to beat.

South (17-1) received all first place votes in the poll. The Warriors, winners of last week's prestigious C.Y.C. Tournament in St. Louis, have been a unanimous pick for the top spot each week since the beginning of the season.

Next in line, as they have been since the beginning of the season also, are the Collinsville Kahoks, who last week week warmed up the Southwestern Conference championship with a 1-1 victory over Alton, Granite City North (8-3-2) is the choice of the coaches for third place.

Spiker number one for South is Susan Jeffries. She did her best not to be outdone by Boyd, hitting a couple of smashes that sent Collinsville defenders into a frenzy.

scored on a corner kick. A place were the Trojans have failed to connect all season. "The ball was placed perfectly over the goalies head," said Briggs. "We just had to touch it and it would go in."

Carvel Claggett managed to meet the ball, sending it home for the tally. "It takes experience to get a head on the ball," said Briggs. "We've had the opportunity, but just never scored. In fact, we had an open net twice. We had our typical mistakes. It was always something, though. But, this was the first time everything worked perfectly."

Maybe Briggs has finally found the key to his offensive dilemma. "I like to say I hope so," said Briggs, "but we'll have to see in games coming up. Our defense is still strong. It all depends if the level of competition gets better. I don't know what will happen then." Briggs will have to find a solution because the Trojans must face Granite City North in the opening sub-sectional contest.

At the 11 minute mark of the second quarter, Crawford had his back to the goal and only one available shot. Crawford executed a perfect scissors kick, sending the ball into the air and in the goal.

"He was in a crowd and there was quite a few people contesting for the ball," said Briggs. "He couldn't settle the ball, because the goalie was right on his back. He just came up with a great shot." Byron Parker was credited with the assist.

Special to the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The rivalry is so fierce between the Quincy College Hawks and the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars in soccer that it is not unusual that one or the other takes great satisfaction in spoiling the other's homecoming festivities.

This Saturday, Quincy College will be the Cougars' homecoming opponent, with the kickoff scheduled at 3 p.m.

The two midwestern college soccer giants have met 12 times since the series began, and SIUE leads it 7-4-1.

But in their four previous homecomings, the teams have ruined each other's big day. Last year at Quincy, the Cougars played probably the best game of soccer they've ever recorded. And that's including their 3-2 victory over the Clemson U. Tigers in the championship final of the NCAA Division I tourney at Tampa. They posted a 2-0 victory over Quincy in 1979, a season when Quincy was ranked the NAIA national crown. The two-goal difference, however, doesn't even come close to telling the complete story of just how well the Cougars played that game.

Cougar Coach MacKenzie's Hawks, loser to St. Louis U. at home last weekend 4-2, should be up for their meeting with the Cougars Saturday.

Quincy's scoring is led by a young freshman from Sweden, Tor Dine, who has 10 points on nine goals and one assist. The Cougars, at the same time, have a pair of point-makers, both with nine: senior Tim Guelker and freshman Mike Gauravito.

About the best news SIUE soccer fans have received these past tough weeks is the return of senior defender Terry Trumbull to action. He missed four games because of a broken toe.

In the fifth weekly Budweiser College Poll, the Cougars kickers, despite two losses, still managed to hold on to their spot in the Top 20 rankings, slipping just one notch, from last week's 13th slot down to 14th.

In the No. 1 berth again went the U. of San Francisco Dons, who came from behind in last Friday's "Game of the Week" to beat SIUE, 2-1, in double overtime. The Dons, also a 1-0 victor Monday night over St. Louis U., regained the No. 1 spot from Alabama A & M, a club which suffered the only blemish on its record, a 2-2 split, at the hands of the cross-state NCAA Division II power, Alabama-Huntsville.

The odd thing was that the Dons, also held to a tie by their Division II cross-town foe, San Francisco State, 4-4, before their invasion of the midwest, rebounded to take over the top rung in the rankings.

It should be kept in mind by SIUE soccer fans that their favorites have suffered just one more loss than the higher-ranked St. Louis U. Bulls, now 9-4-0 for the season. The Bulls, who have a very important date with the Cougars, Thursday night, Oct. 30, at St. Louis' Busch Memorial Stadium in the 10th Annual Bronze Boot Classic, appear to be shoring ins for a post-season NCAA regional tourney bid.

But, so do the Cougars on the basis of their "strength of schedule" competition. Three of SIUE's losses came at the hands of schools ranked in the nation's top 25: Indiana U. (9-1-1) 23rd, St. Clara U. (8-2-1) 19th, Long Island U. (7-1-1) 18th, Cleveland State (5-3-0) 20th, West Virginia U. (7-1-1) 27th.

Granite City is well-represented in the Top 20 poll. Former Granite City South star Mark Goldschmidt stars for Indiana, former Granite City North ranked the nation's top standout, Eric Thornburg plays at Cornell, Tony Pierce, who graduated from GC South last year is a freshman at Connecticut. Two other freshmen from South, Jack Burnett and Craig Kessler, play at the University of Evansville and Dan Sedel, John Kefalas and Dan Sedel play at Duke. Kefalas is a Granite City North grad, played his prep soccer at St. Louis University High.

South netters waltz

GRANITE CITY — It's not only the boys sports at the Granite City high schools that has the fierce rivalry and competition. The girls got into the act Tuesday as the Granite North and South tennis squads exchanged serves for the second time this year.

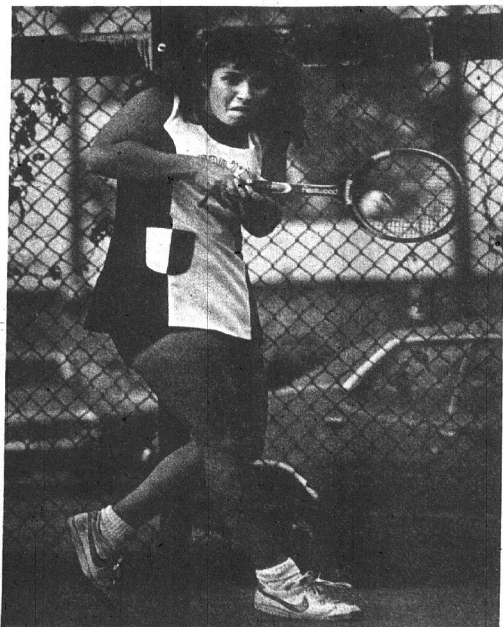

The results were the same, but the scores varied a great deal. In the first encounter, it looked like a traditional North-South hookup with the Warriors coming away by a mere 4-3 count. However, the second meeting held a different story as South handled the Stealers with ease, taking the match 6-1.

The Warriors made a clean sweep of the singles. "I didn't expect the match to be close," said South head coach Gary Morgan. "I thought it would be 5-2, but I was pleased with 6-1."

Heading the way was Sub Squires who struggled but came away a 7-5, 6-2 winner. "She has been playing excellent tennis," said Morgan. "We're trying to get to peak up for districts."

Following Squires was Wendy Kelly who eased to a 6-2, 6-1 victory. Joan Boaker won handily 6-3 and 6-0, as Treasa Gwasab finished out winning 6-3, 7-6.

The major change in this match was that Treasa (Gwasab) played much better. "I didn't expect this type of match," said North head coach Judy Ward. "We played them a week ago and played a close match. I don't think we played that type of came from their third doubles team of Mary Ann Botopul and Tracy Hadley. They seemed to find it easy taking a 6-2, 6-1 match. "I didn't expect this type of match," said North head coach Judy Ward. "We played them a week ago and played a close match. I don't think we played that type of match this time. The matches we won the first time were from the bottom half of our players. It was the same this time. Our bottom people can beat their bottom players, but not on the top. South's top players are more competitive than we are. They play at a different level of competition than we do."

The Stealers drop to 5-13 on the season and 2-6 in the Gateway East Conference, while the Warriors move to 5-8 and an even 4-4 in conference play. "I was pleased with the way we played," said Morgan, "even more so than the score."

Game changed

MADISON — Friday's scheduled Quad County Conference game between Dupo and Madison has been switched to Saturday. The game was originally scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday, but will instead be played at 1 p.m. Saturday. The reason for the switch is a problem with the lights at Madison High's field. Madison goes into the game with a 2-4 overall record, 1-2 in conference play.

National kickers will take on the world soon

Special to the Press-Record
NEW YORK — Through three games on its five-game training tour for the upcoming qualification matches for the 1982 World Cup, the United States National Team has compiled a 1-1-1 record. After opening with a 3-0 loss to West German First Division club F.C. Nuremberg, the Americans bounced back with a 3-0 shutout Oct. 4 win over the national Team of Luxembourg and a 1-1 draw with the powerful Portuguese National Team Oct. 7 in Lisbon.

The United States team, which will play its opening World Cup qualifying match against Canada Oct. 25 in Ft.

Lauderdale, has two games remaining on its training venture — an Oct. 10 match vs. Arminia Bielefeld of the German First Division and an Oct. 14 confrontation with England's National "B" Team in Manchester, England. Based on his team's play thus far, U.S. National Coach Walt Chyzowich says "everything is starting to fall in place."

"Considering the 3-0 loss to Nuremberg was our first game, I'm not that concerned about the result," explained the U.S. Mentor. "While our finishing skills and team work weren't there in our opener, the cohesiveness and creativity has really come together against Luxembourg and Portugal. We might surprise some people with what this team can do."

Oct. 7 against Portugal, which was playing its final tuneup match before taking on Scotland in a World Cup qualification match Oct. 14, the U.S. fell behind 1-0 when Manuel Fernandes scored for the host team. However, Ricky Davis, primarily a defender during the 1980 NASL season with the New York Cosmos converted to central striker with the National Team, scored the equalizer two minutes later. The U.S. had an excellent chance for an earlier tally, but a penalty shot by Davis in the 51st minute was stopped by Portugal's goalie. The two matches in Ft. Lauderdale will both be played in Lockhart Stadium beginning at 7 p.m. Two of the three teams from Canada, Mexico,

Take, for instance, the Stealers first goal. In the scorebook, it will only read that Bernie Nolan scored from assist by Paul Barrington and Bryan LeFan. But there was more to it than that. Much more. Barrington dribbled the ball down the right sideline to about the 18 yard line near the Belleville goal. From there, he shipped an eight yard pass to LeFan near the center of the field. Nolan shouldered LeFan to go ahead with it. He touched the ball around the defense and left it for Nolan who booted it into the upper right corner of the goal. The goal was scored with 13 minutes left in the first quarter.

Belleville got a goal from Cameron Litsey just two minutes later. It was the first time the Maroons had the ball near the North goal. It was also the last.

Craig Burkley gave North the lead for good just two minutes after Litsey had tied it with an unassisted goal.

Steve Trittschuh extended the Stealers' lead to 3-1 barely two minutes into the second quarter. He headed in a free kick on a bang-bang play.

North's last goal of the game was one that happens only once in a million. In fact, Kehoe, who's seen millions of soccer games in his life has only seen it happen once before.

Here's what happened: Nolan boomed a shot toward the Maroon goal that the goalie reached up for. He got his hands on it and tipped it.

shouldn't be ready for this one." Schott knows exactly what his team's up against if it plans to repeat as conference king. This is a big contest and the young men are capable of realizing what's in store for them," said Schott. "I don't think we can concentrate on one certain player. Even though Buchanan is out with an injury, I don't think it'll have any effect on the game. That sophomore kid, DePew, has been doing a good job. I think Tommy (Wyrostek) will agree, you don't change things that have been working for you."

But Schott did agree that they will have to be prepared. "We have to be ready for them," said Schott, "because they're going to come right at us and I just hope we have the playings to stop them."

Pairings

The two winners will be at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7. The South Sectional winner will play at 9 a.m. Friday, Nov. 14 against the winner of the Wheaton-Warrenville Sectional in the State Quarterfinals at Palatine High School. The next game for that team (should it win Friday) will be Saturday, Nov. 15 at noon. The State Championship game is set for 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 15.

In another Sub-Sectional feeding into the South Sectional, teams involved include Collinsville, East St. Louis, Assumption, and Wheaton-Warrenville.

Edwardsville, Highland St. Paul, Lebanon and O'Fallon, at another Sub-Sectional, teams involved will be Belleville, Alton, Belleville East, Belleville West, Cahokia, Waterloo, Gibault and Waterloo Senior. In the other Sub-Sectional, teams participating will be Chatham, Glenwood, Jacksonville, Quincy, Notre Dame, Quincy Senior, Riverton, Springfield, Lanphier, Springfield High School and Springfield Southeast.

Other Sectionals across the state will be hosted by Hinckley-Big Rock, Hinsdale Central, New Trier West, Palatine, Niles West and Wheaton-Warrenville.

Anticipate no danger from waste burning in Sauget

Granite City air pollution control officials say they see no danger to a plan to burn industrial wastes in an incinerator in Sauget, even though the normal prevailing wind from Sauget comes into Granite City.

Paul Case, head of the city's air pollution control department, said she became aware Tuesday that Trade Waste Incineration, Inc., was seeking a permit from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to burn industrial and hospital wastes, including paint sludges, oil refinery sludges, waste printing inks, pathological hospital wastes and magnesium and titanium-bearing wastes from Monsanto Chemical Co.

She said she immediately investigated the matter and was assured by EPA officials that the burning would not cause a hazard to the Quad-City area.

"The two-chamber incinerator they would use is similar to a hospital incinerator and has only a 30-foot (smoke) stack. Compared to what is needed for safety, the unit is over-controlled for pollution."

"It already is in use for hospital wastes and they are seeking a permit only to test burn other materials to determine if it could be used safely. If not, the EPA will not allow them to burn the wastes," Mrs. Case said.

She was told the high temperatures and the safety and air pollution control equipment on the incinerator is more than adequate to control germs and most pollution.

The heavy metals which could be emitted by paint and ink burning would not reach the Quad-City area, even under very windy conditions, Mrs. Case contended. She said heavy metals are the first materials to fall out of air pollution and it is doubtful that any of the metals could go more than a half-mile from a 30-foot smoke stack.

"If we were talking about a 150-foot stack, we might be in trouble, but not a 30-foot stack," Mrs. Case added.

To be on the safe side, she has requested that the EPA send her a copy of the permit application and review materials on the proposed test for additional study prior to a public hearing on the application Nov. 14 in the Sauget Village Hall.

Public comment on the issue may be sent to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, 2200 Church Hill Road, Springfield, Ill., 62706, between Oct. 14 and Nov. 20. Anyone wishing to testify at the hearing should make an appointment with James Maloney at that address, officials said.

Handicapped awareness week events

Plans for the sixth annual National Handicapped Awareness Week, Oct. 12-18, have been announced by the Easter Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois.

The objective of the week's activities, according to Executive Director Carol Wike Nudo, is to increase public understanding of the needs and rights of people with disabilities.

"Awareness of environmental and attitudinal barriers which confront persons with disabilities is the key step in bringing about changes so that they can have full access to our society, maximum independence, and the opportunity to develop and use their full capabilities," she said.

The National Easter Seal Society and its network of affiliates have organized and sponsored Awareness Week as a public education project since 1975. "Over the years, other organizations have joined forces with Easter Seals in this effort, so that Awareness Week has become increasingly a community-wide campaign," she added.

This year, the Easter Seal Society is working with the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services in holding special events. Included is an art exhibit of work by handicapped individuals, to be held at Alton Square today through Sunday.

$800 TIRE THEFT

Two truck tires, valued at $400 each, were stolen Monday night from a parked Michigan and Nebraska Transit Co. truck in a lot at 17th and State streets. Two sides of beef were taken from another truck there earlier this week.

HUD surrenders; will accept housing budget

By ED GURNEY

The Madison County Housing authority's budget dispute with the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development may be over.

The authority received a letter from HUD earlier this month announcing that the federal agency will approve the authority's latest proposed budget. HUD earlier refused approval.

The authority board last month had announced plans to sue HUD to resolve the budget dispute. The suit was not filed.

The final item of disagreement concerned the amount of the retainer the board wanted to pay its attorney. Casper Nighohossian of Granite City, HUD thought the proposed amount, $9,600, was too high.

The authority board last week approved a resolution formally resubmitting its latest proposed budget for HUD approval. The resolution states the board will suspend legal action until Oct. 30, pending HUD approval of the budget.

Board Chairman James May of Edwardsville said that if HUD approves the budget, authority employees should receive retroactive pay increases next month.

Those pay increases were due to take effect last January; employees have been grumbling for months about the failure of the board to get the budget approved and pay the raises.

Protests by the employees may have been a factor in HUD's decision to approve the budget.

In his letter to May, HUD Area Manager Elmer Binford said, "This office has received numerous phone calls, together with news clippings from various

"In consideration of the fact that the authority has been operating for almost nine months without an approved budget and that your staff is being deprived of their full salary, which may be causing a hardship on the employees and their families, we are approving your 1980 budget as submitted without modification."

Binford said approval is given with the understanding that all expenditures, including legal fees, be fully documented.

A review of that documentation will provide a basis for the 1981 budget, Binford said. "Your 1981 budget will receive a line-by-line review," he advised.

May said the authority does fully document its expenditures. "But we don't think our contract (with HUD) entitles them to a line-by-line review," May said. "We're really given up all our authority if we agree to that."

The budget covers the authority's conventional housing projects. HUD reviews the budget because it provides a subsidy.

CAR HITS FENCE

Scott A. LeMaster, 23, of 2724 Maryville Road, lost control of his car while making a left turn from Madison Avenue east onto 20th Street and hit a brick fence at Granite City Steel during the weekend, according to official reports. Alcohol allegedly was found in his car and he was charged with illegally transporting alcohol. He was released on bond.
